Dear Jamie (and Kurt)

I see I'm the first one to sign your yearbook (I think!) I'm honored! I'm really glad I got to know you this year. Maybe you don't know it, but you're one of my favorite people. You're so weird! (I love weirdos!) I don't know Paula well, but I hope you two are very happy in the future. I'm glad you're only a junior so I'll get to see you next year. Yet we'll be in the future. I'm glad you're only a junior in the summer. Maybe we can get together and somewhere! (897-5459) With Much Love & Friendship, go do something

Jamie,

You are a great friend, even if many times, but nice. Even if many doesn't like you I do. Good luck in the future may it bring you lots & lots of happiness

Jennie,

Hi how are you? Thanks for bein so sweet to me. I really loved meeting you. Remember the football game? The one where you shouted at me "You're the one going to the prom with my brother, aren't you?" Remember that?!? You are sweet and thoughtful! It's too bad that I haven't received that call from the hospital yet! We might have gotten the Reflection in your mind of past experiences bring pictures of joy and sorrow, the stars at night, the friends you've made. All the homework and all the fun. All the things you said and did reflected upon the person you are today.

I hope you get to come to Hawaii with your uncle. I'll be hoping to see you there. I'm estactic about going. I just can't wait. This week seems to be going by so slowly! I hope you and I can have a couple of classes together next year! Have a fun summer, go to the beach a lot and get darker than me o.k.? Write me in Hawaii o.k.. Take care,

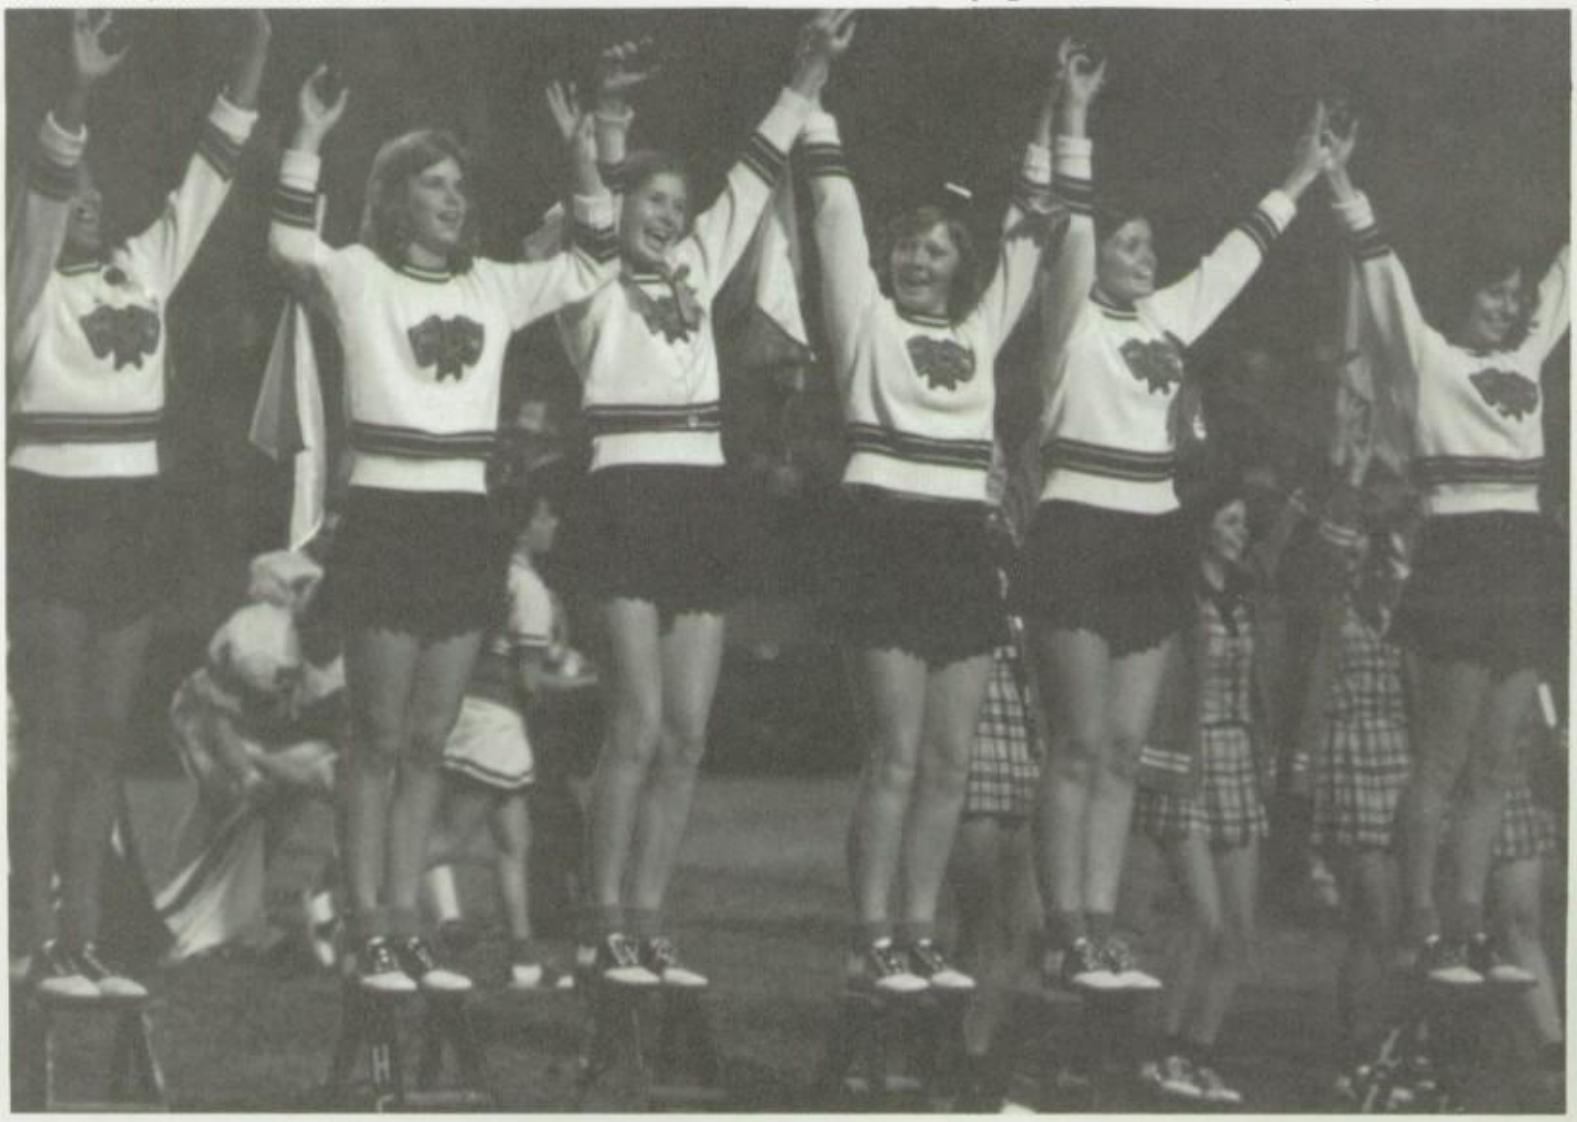
PEP GROUPS PUSHED FOR A SPIRITED YEAR

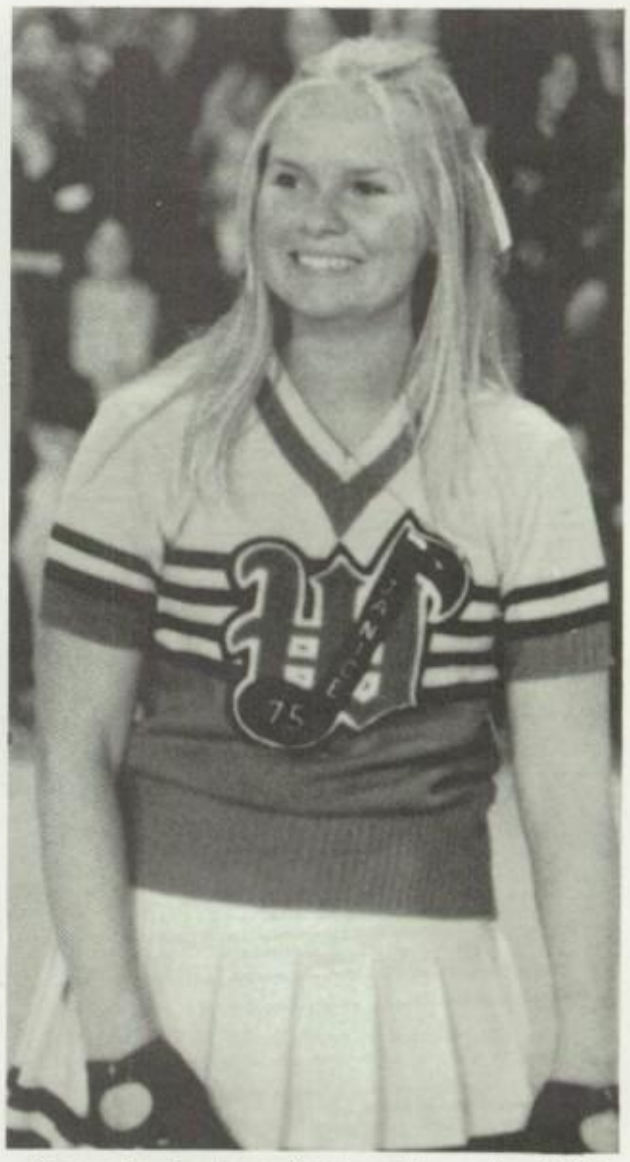
The WHS marching band displays their playing and marching abilities during a football half-time; takes alot of hot air.

Judy Kaich leads yells, spreading Lion Pride at an "away" game; the mascot waits patiently.



The joyous flag girls, Sandy, Susy, Marilu, Julie, Connie and Linda join in cheering the lion team to victory.

Drillteam members practice in perfecting their routine for the Basketball halftime competition at Arroyo High School. "Shoulders back! Chest out! Stomachs in!"



Song girl, Janice smiles happily as the WHS band and drillteam perform.

There are many people who help in bringing spirit to WHS; such people as the pepsters, Marching Band, and Lionette Drillteam, which add much inspiration and enthusiasm to the school. These groups not only perform and represent the school, but spend much time in practicing, decorating and planning on each members own time.

PEPSTERS

Pepsters represent the school at games, competitions, and other school and social functions. They promoted spirit and pride for the school and its students.

During summer school, each girl helped in raising money by working in the snack bar. The money was used in buying, goodies for team members, poster paper, and paints.

Each girl is required to paint about 10 posters per week during the whole year. Also they spend much time in decorating football and basketball rooms and the restaurants where the team members eat. These girls also spend many hours practicing routines after school.

Football Uniforms: $125.00 - sweater, skirt, shoes, emblem, accesories, and day uniform.

Basketball Uniforms: $37.00 - dress, shoes, emblem and accesories.

DRILL TEAM

The Lionette Drillteam spent two hours, two days a week practicing drills during the summer. When school started in September each girl practiced two-three hours everyday, for the football halftimes. Also many hours were spent on practicing for basketball halftimes, parades and competitions. The girls sponsored car washes, paper drives and a burger bash, which brought them together for some fun activites.

The Leaders spent one-two hours planning football and basketball routines, each day after practice.

Uniforms: $100.00 - night and day uniforms, boots, oxfords, and accessories.

MARCHING BAND

The band spends much time in practicing all through the year. During the summer, in- coming members practice four days a week, six hours a day, for six weeks. During the year members practiced two periods a day (first Semester), practicing for football halftimes and parades. Preparing for the competitions, fifteen thousand man hours were used.

For all their hard work and time spent in practicing, both the band and drill team had a great year, winning several awards for their outstanding performances. They competed against ten other high schools, in the Los Alamitos Fall Festival, with the band coming home with the Sweepstakes award and the drillteam with a Second Place trophy. Then at the Third Annual Chaffey Band Pageant, both the drillteam and band took Second Place.

Soph-Frosh yell leaders Leigh, Debbie and Caroline watch pepster routines during a rally, eagerly awaiting their turn.

With great enthusiasm and charm, Doris gives it her all in a song performance during a football game "Go team!"

In change of uniform, Lion Brenda does an original "Freitag" Routine.

Julie Blows into her paper bag as she watches for the kick-off.

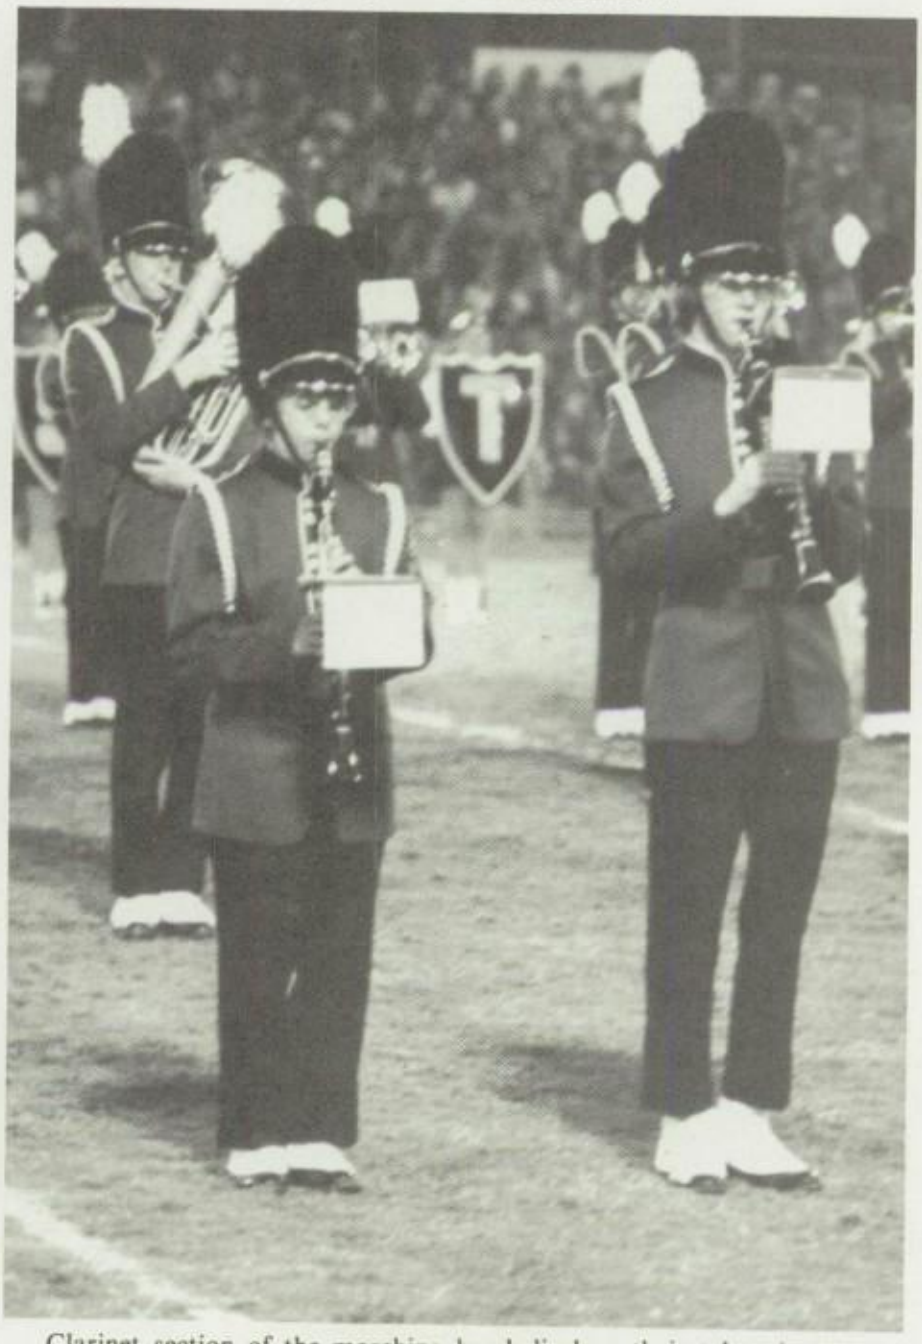
In mass chaos, the banner girls join together in the center of the field after a great win.

Having some half time fun, yell leaders Judy and Karen give a free ride to an exhausted Lion Mascot.

Mary Gehr, drill team member performs one of the popular half time routines.

Song girls, Lori, Janice, Jessica, Doris, Dawna, and Yvonne form their final pose at end of pep rally. "Let's make it our best!?"

Head yell leader, Sandy leads yells and cheers for a team victory.



Clarinet section of the marching band displays their talent in performing during football half time.

Lion Mascot, Brenda does some acting, as she pretends to have been shot by an arrow at pep rally.

At football rally, Varsity yell leaders enthusiasticly "pep up" students; or try, at any rate.

Traditons Were Broken This Year

One of the oldest traditions was broken this year when two juniors were chosen as Boys of the Year when it was previously only seniors. The tradition has always been that seniors were honored, because they had been here for four years and it was a "senior's privilege". It was not unlike some of the other privileges that seniors get, such as receiving their yearbooks before anyone else and being the dominant winners at the Royal Banquet. The committee that chose the Boys of the Year consisted of some of the members of the House of Lords. There were two Boys of the Year, because there was a tie in voting and it was impossible to choose between them.

We've Got the Red Pride

Whether the highest hurdles remain, or the team is league champion; whether they have a hopeless lead or the game is a toss-up, any sport depends on a maximum effort; a tireless output of energy.

The scattered moments of glory on the playing field can justify the many hours of practice, but only with the development of an individual sense of sportsmanship linked with a sincere desire to succeed.

The nominees for Athlete of the Year and Most Inspirational Athlete were Lewis Cooper, Richard Gishi, Jon Huntley, Jeff Johnson, Mark Johnson, Frank Landri, Tony Maddocks, Dennis Schade, and Lynn Wilson.

These were not the only outstanding athletes. There were many others who never received recognition or an award. These athletes can be proud of themselves for they also contributed a great deal to our school.

SOMETIMES

Feeling Friendly . . . Just Had My Cheerios

Besides being ASB President, Mitch Goldstein attends various meetings with Miss Atwood and Mr. Kolanoski. With all he has to do, he still finds time to be friendly, which earned him the title of Friendliest Senior Boy. Wendy Horton, Friendliest Senior Girl, really deserves her title. She's a member of the Drill Team and the Girls' Tennis Team. She always has a friendly smile on her face. Caroline O'Toole is a Soph-Frosh yell leader, and she cheers the Sophomore and Freshmen teams on to victory. She is not only spirited but friendly as the Friendliest Freshman Girl. Sam Tricoli has made a big impression at Westminster High. He is the Friendliest Freshman Boy and is known as a real character, too. Diana Rayl and Bill Burke were named King and Princess at the Senior Luau. Diana Rayl is a Drill Team leader and spends much of her time making up and teaching routines. Bill Burke is a member of the Water Polo and Swimming Teams.

TO LION HONOR...

HOMECOMING COURT 1974: Julie Brummett, Dave Kent, Kathy Jones, Dennis Schade, Carin Zaleski, Scott Young, Doris Membrila, Dale Quiggle, Yvonne Membrila, Dale Cantrell.

Homecoming Court 1974

Homecoming 1974 was a memorable event of the school year. The Football, Water Polo, and Cross Country Teams voted for their favorite senior girls. The student body voted for the top five girls. The girls were: Julie Brummett, Kathy Jones, Doris Membrila, Yvonne Membrila, and Carin Zaleski.

The Homecoming Princesses were escorted by their fathers up the red carpet to the crowning area. The moment everyone was waiting for finally arrived, and Carin Zaleski was announced Homecoming Queen.

Visions of 1974 Football

Although they lost their two pre-league games, the Lion football team pulled through the season with only one loss and one tie. The Lion's victories sent them to the C.I.F. play-offs where they were unsuccessful in winning the championship.

Through the combined efforts of both the team and the coaches, the Lions were led to another season of victory in the Sunset League.

Quarterback, Tim De Mase, throws a long pass to receiver Tony Maddocks, # 22.

The Lions prepare for another game with some pep talk from # 74, Dennis Schade. "Let's get out there and win!"

#22, Tony Maddocks, leads the way down the field with Marina close at his heels.

The Lions line-up for another play against the aggressive Lakewood team.

Steve Alverson, #17 gets ready to throw a long pass.

Quarterback, Tim De Mase charges full steam into Lakewood's defense.

#40, Rob Gohr punts the ball for an extra point after a victorious touchdown.

After receiving the ball, Steve Moore #32 charges on for a first down.

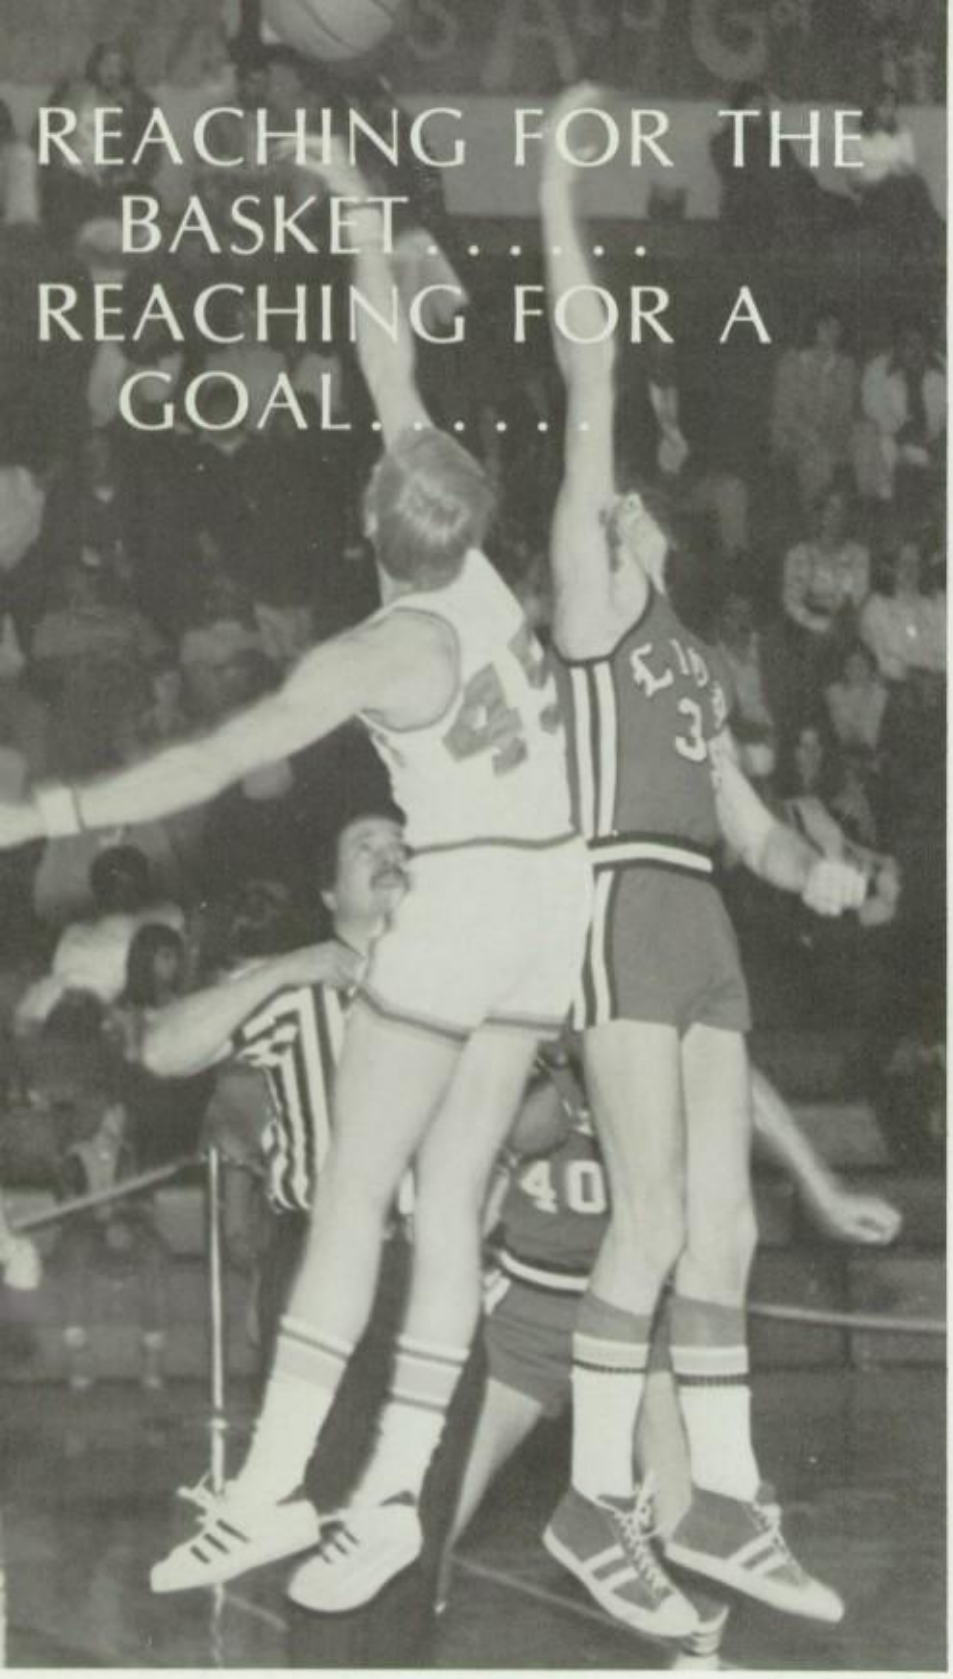
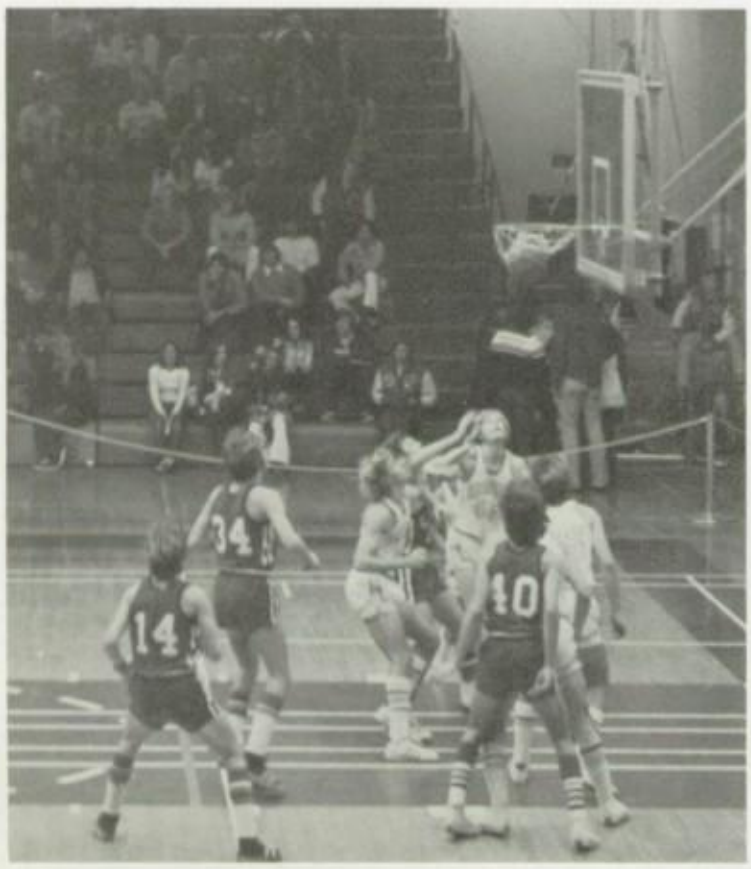
REACHING FOR THE BASKET..... REACHING FOR A GOAL.....



Linn Wilson misses the jump-ball in exciting game against the Los Alamitos Griffins.



Edison players await a basket made by Lion player, Linn Wilson.

Steve Alverson looks over Marina's basket while Dave Stricklin checks out the basketballs before the game.

The 1975 Lion basketball team came in third place in the district Sunset League. From there they went on to the C.I.F. play-offs.

Strong senior leaders this year include Linn Wilson, Tony Engedal, and Rick Stricklin. Together they led the team to five consecutive victories. The last game of the season was a "smashing" success against Edison, with the score 63-48; obviously the Chargers were no match for the Lions.

Mark Eaton takes time out to tuck in his shirt.

Energetic junior, Brian Rodgers strives up to make two points while Griffen players look up to see hopeless rebound.

Senior Linn Wilson Goes All the Way

Senior, Linn Wilson started his basketball career at the age of ten. He played for three boy's club teams and was also on a recreation park team.

Linn was voted Most Valuable Player for basketball during seventh and eighth grade at Johnson Jr. High.

As a freshman he played on the Freshman basketball team. He was also team captain for the basketball team and was voted Most Valuable Player by the league and team.

In his sophomore year, Linn Wilson played 6 games on the Varsity team and averaged 6 points a game. He also played junior varsity where he averaged 15 points a game and started at forward.

He was Most Valuable Player and team captain on junior varsity and made All League 1st team at forward for the J.V. team.

As a junior, he averaged 13 points a game and made all tournament teams at the Westminster-Marina and Garden Grove Tournaments.

Presently, Linn Wilson is 6'4" tall, with a 3.60 grade point average.

Linn was chosen Most Valuable Player in the Santiago Tournament. He also made the All Tournament team in the Marina-Westminster Holiday Tournament. He made 1st team, All Sunset League and 1st team All Orange County.

Linn's average points per game was 23.6 and approximate total points was 315, with a shooting average of 59.7%. His total rebounds per game was 10.6% and his free-throw percentage was 72%. He was the leading scorer in the Sunset League.

Since 1970, it has been the first time in five years that we have been to C.I.F. Our first C.I.F. game was against Long Beach Poly, in which we were defeated, 35-50.

Wrestlers Secure C.I.F.

Scott Smick, 130 lbs., is in a little trouble as his opponent pins him to the floor. Scott was one of the wrestlers that beat Los Alamitos.

The wrestling teams did it again this year by placing 9th in C.I.F. out of 450 schools. For the past years Westminster has placed in C.I.F. competition. Under the direction of Coach Cossarek and Coach Atterbury the wrestlers defeated many of the top schools including Los Alamitos, Fountain Valley, Newport, Western, Loara and Los Altos. The Lion defense proved to be strong competition to everyone.

For instance, the wrestlers opened their sunset League Championship by defeating Newport. Lion winners were Tim Watkins; 97 lbs., Dave Smith; 114 lbs., Jim Lee; 114 lbs., Bill Speaks; 122 lbs., Jeff Tiffany; 135 lbs., Tony Maddocks; 140 lbs., Mike Cadwell; 165 lbd., Tim Smick; 175 lbs., and Frank Landri; 194 lbs. The J.V. team won 44-12 and the Frosh/Soph won 41-18.

The Lion Varsity team placed 4th in the 24 team Costa Mesa tournament, medal winners were 98 lbs.-Tim Watkins-4th place, 136 lbs.-Jeff Tiffany-1st place, 140 lbs.-Tony Maddocks-2nd place, and 194 lbs.-Frank Landri-2nd place.

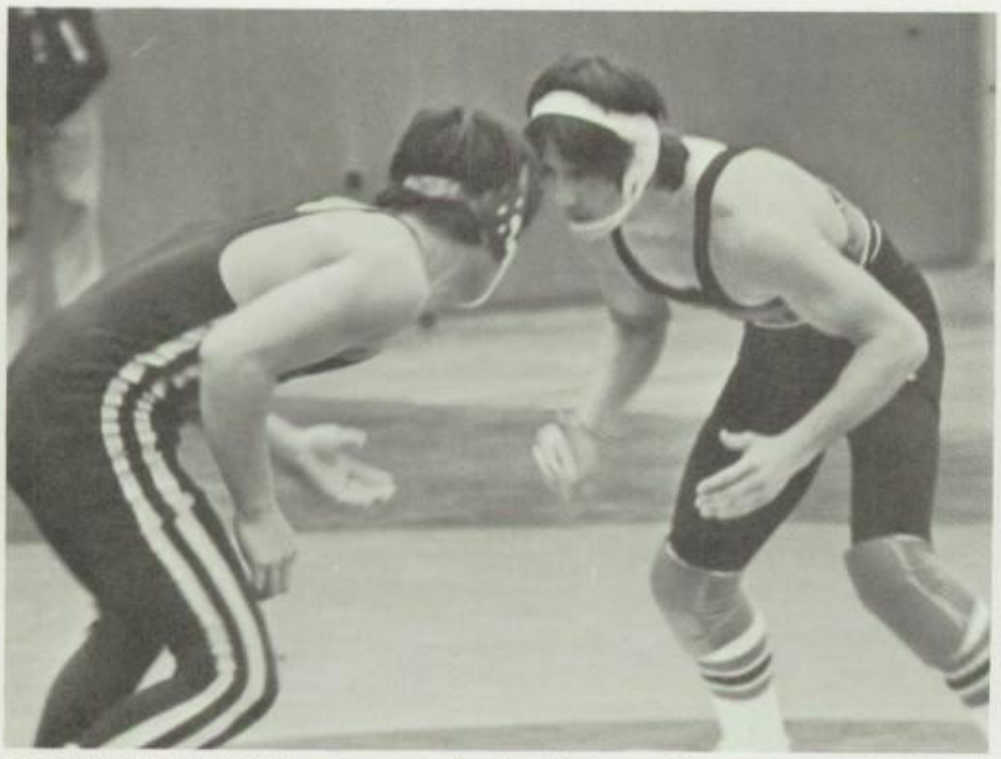
The Varsity wrestlers also won the Fullerton tournament scoring a record 150 points. The first place winners were Jeff Tiffany; 136 lbs., Tony Maddocks; 141 lbs. and Frank Landri; 194 lbs.

In the C.I.F. tournament the Lions were led by Tony Maddocks who was second in C.I.F. at 141 lbs. and Jeff Tiffany who was third at 136 lbs.

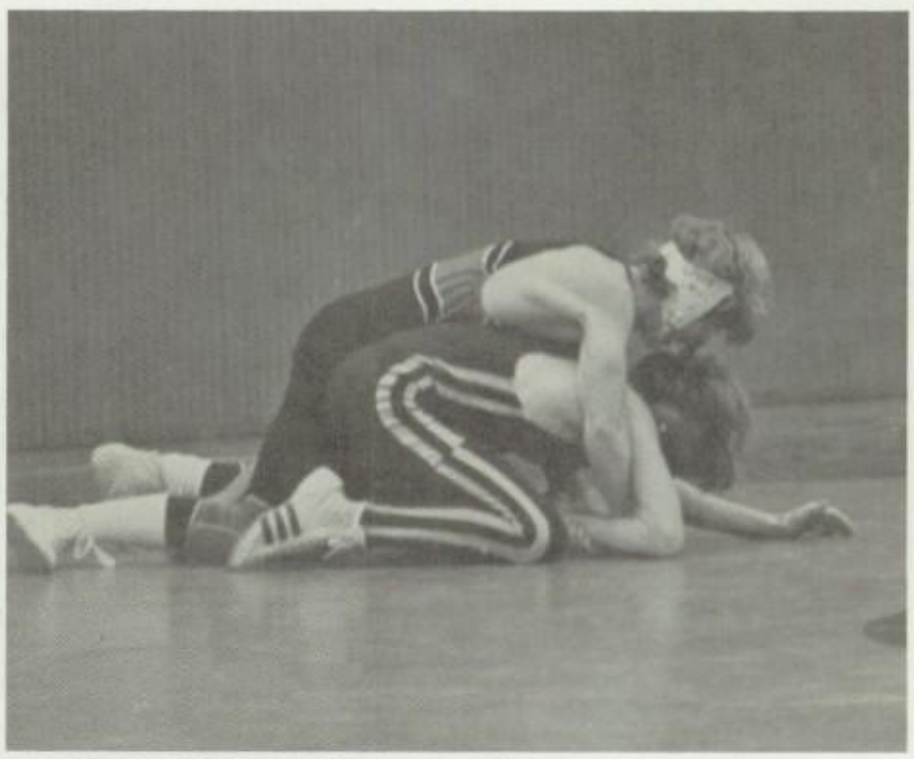
The Lion Wrestling teams have done an outstanding job at representing the school.

Junior, Jeff Camire, 148 lbs., is pinned to the ground by his opponent. Jeff must use strategy as well as his strength to get out of this difficult position.

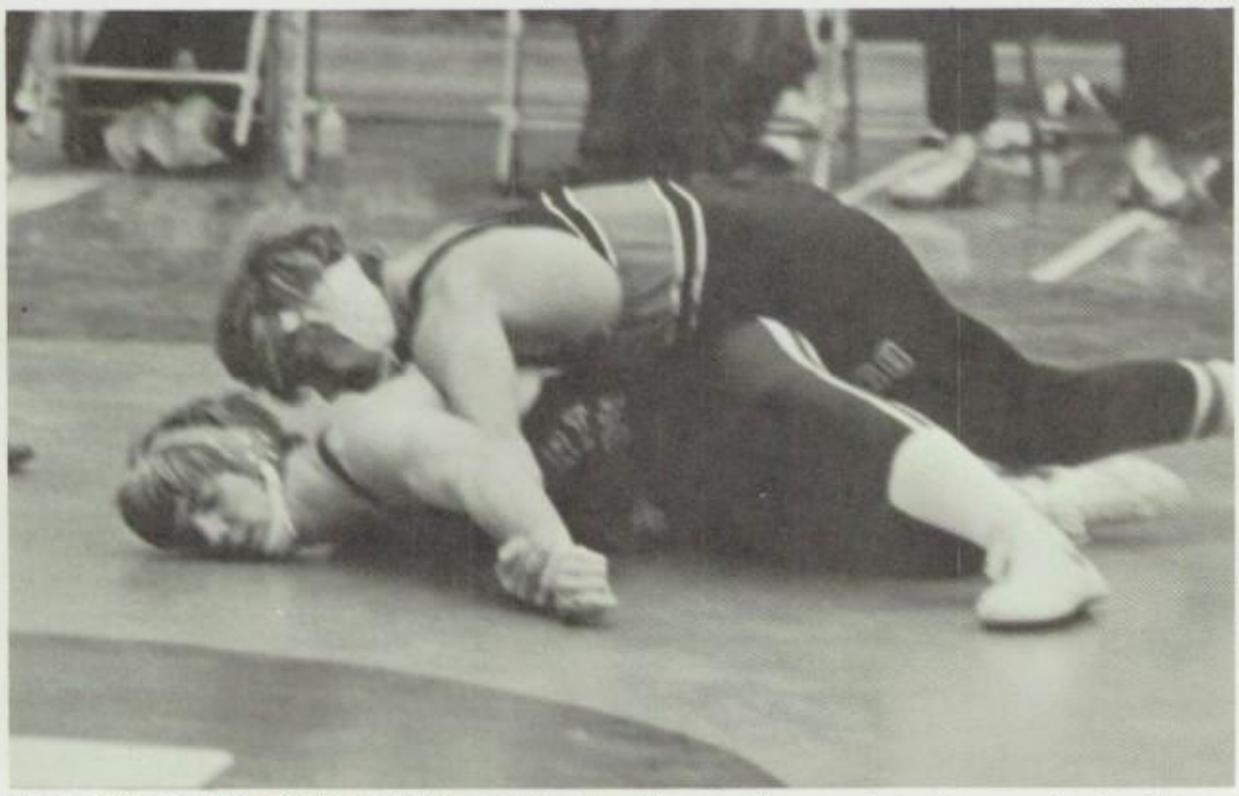
League Champ, Frank Landri, 194 lbs. places the other wrestler in a rather tangled position. Frank now plans his next move to win.



Tony Maddocks, 141 lbs. gets ready for the takedown. Tony was named outstanding wrestler in the Fullerton tournament, as he placed first.



Tim Watkins, 98 lbs. holds his opponent firmly to the floor. Tim was among the top wrestlers who placed in the Sunset League.

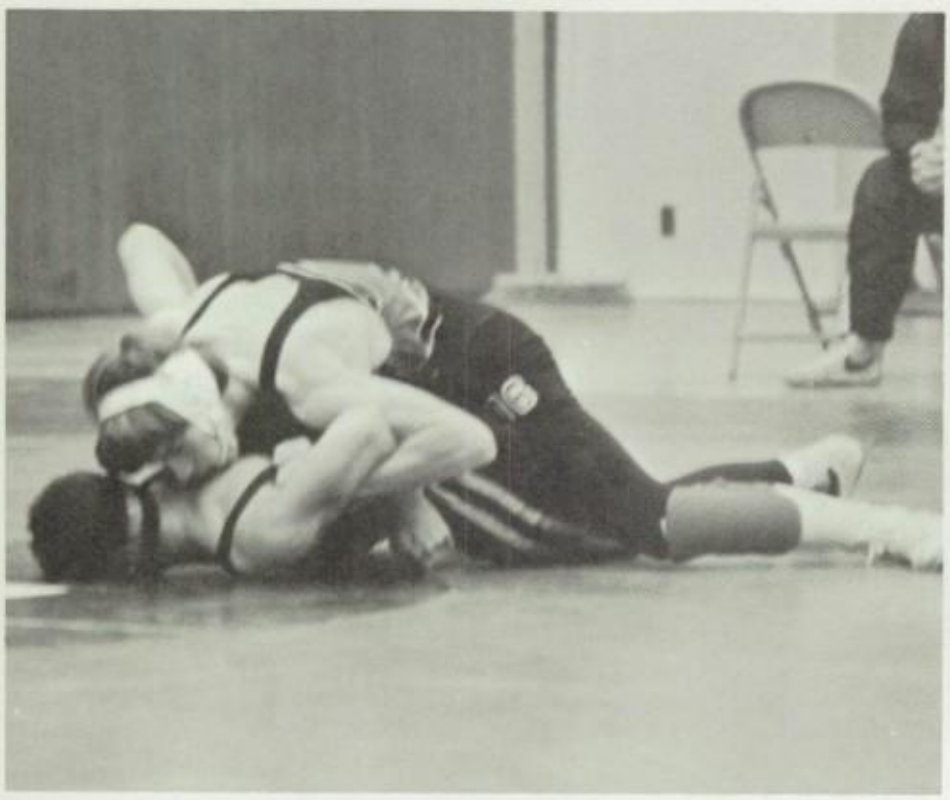


League Champ, Mike Cadwell 168 lbs. anchors the other wrestler securely to the ground as he thinks of his next move that will allow him to win the match.

This year there was three very valuable wrestlers. Voted for most valuable wrestler was senior Tony Maddocks, 140 lbs. Tony has always been very active in sports and is one of the schools top athletes.

Nest is senior Frank Landri, 194 lbs. who received the Lion Heart. Frank is very sports minded and is also among the best athletes.

Third in line is senior Jeff Tiffany, 136 lbs. who was an outstanding wrestler and the winner of the Captains award. Jeff has been wrestling for several years.



Ready to pin his opponent is Dave Smith 106 lbs. Dave was among the wrestlers that defeated Newport 42-18.

Clowning around are senior Chuck Emery and Frank Landri. Chuck and Frank were two of the wrestlers that helped us beat Loara.

WRESTLERS...PIN TO WIN

GYMNASTS GO TO THE TOP AGAIN

Traditionally, Westminster's Gymnastic Team has proved to be competent and strong. The Gymnastic team has never lost a Sunset League Title in the schools history. Both coach Leon Crawford and Fred Marquez have done an excellent job in guiding the team together.

The Lions won the Lakewood invitational against the best teams in C.I.F. and L.A. City. At this invitational Roy Rodriguez set a new record of 8.85 on the parallel bars, and Paul Van Ruiten set a new record of 8.9 on the high bar. They also took first in their own Westminster Preview and the San Gabriel and El Rancho Invitationals.

The Gymnastics team has never come lower than third place in C.I.F. Many of the past gymnasts from WHS have been given scholarships to the major universities, which keeps our motto "Home of the Scholars and Champions."

The first league meet of the year, Westminster played Newport Harbor, winning 144-88. Rick DeLuca set a new school record of 9.0 on the rings. Ring trio Rick DeLuca, Art Cruz, and Peter Stratton also broke their day old record of 26.3.

On the rings is senior Art Cruz who goes in deep concentration, as he displays a hard task by doing the "Iron Cross."

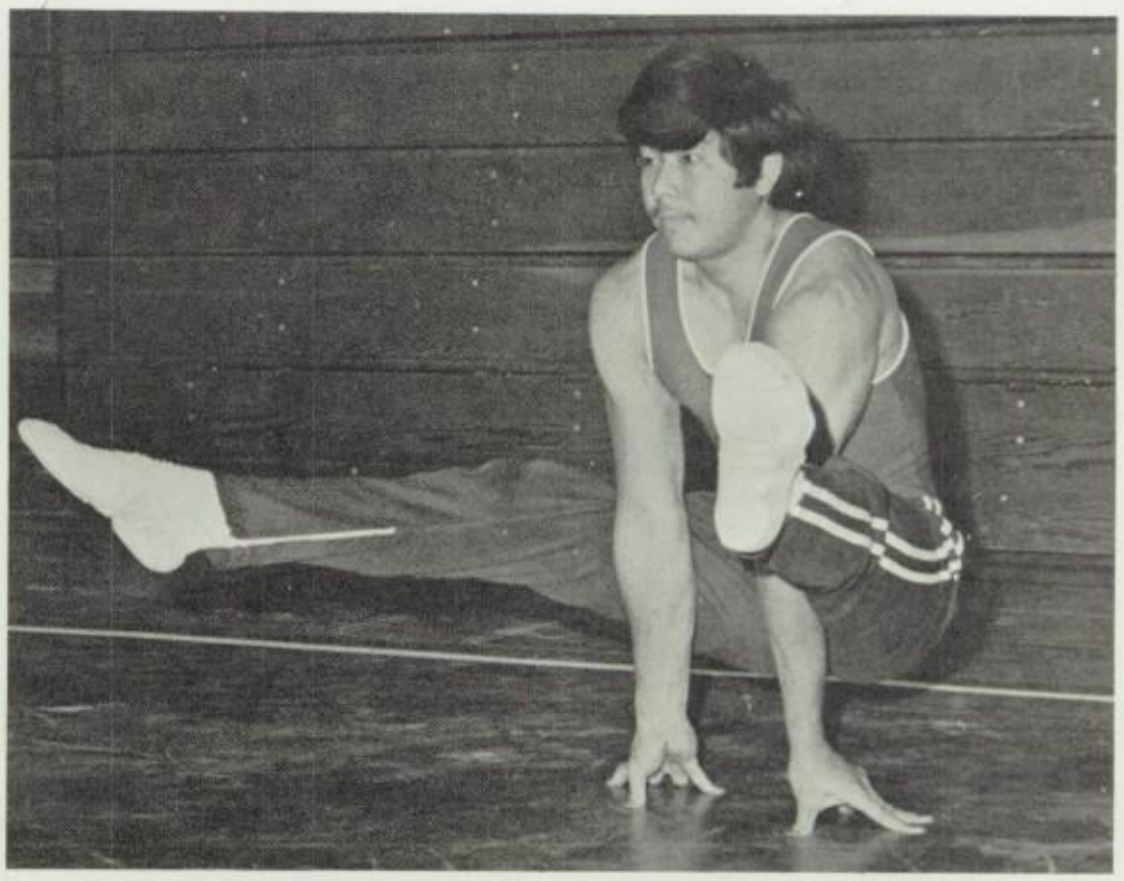
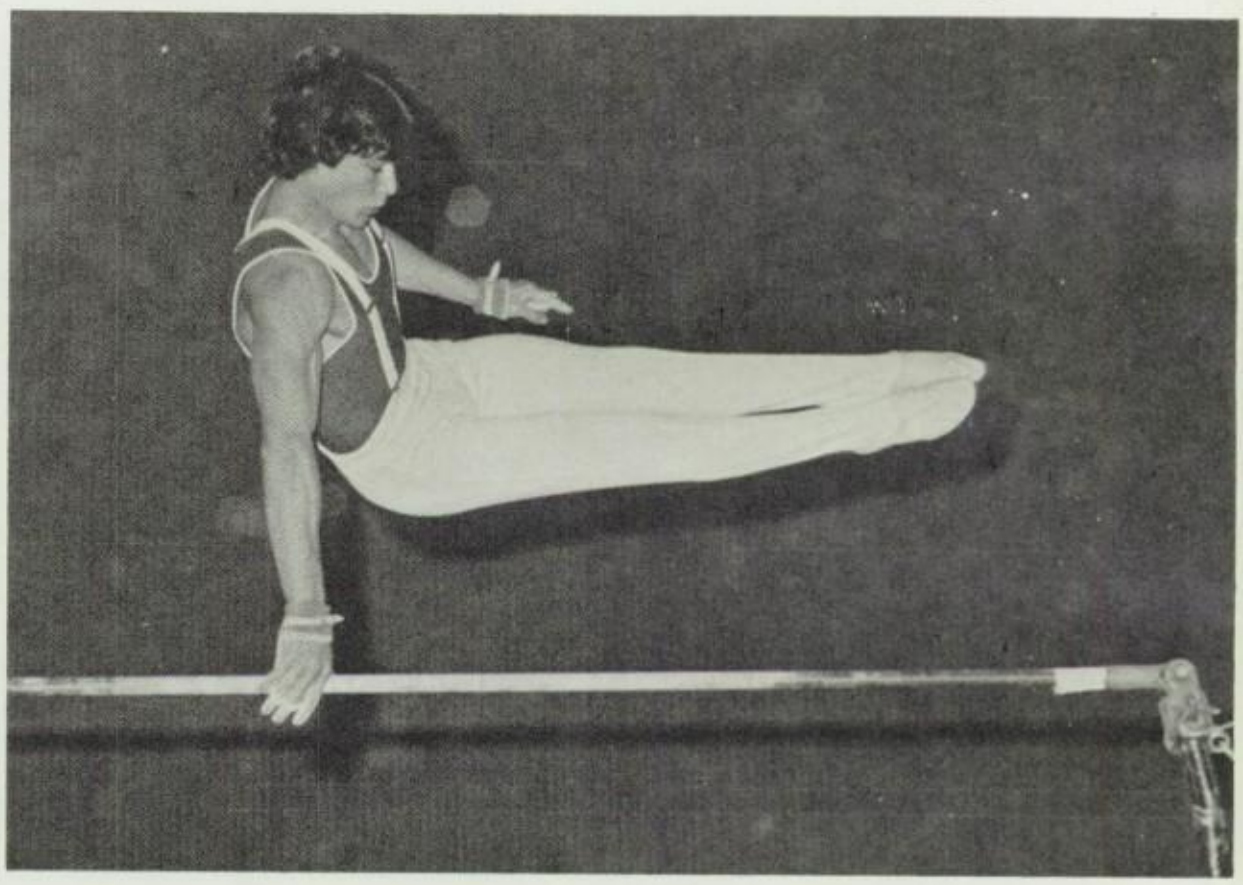
Senior, Roy Rodriguez concentrates hard while forming an "L" on the parallel bars.



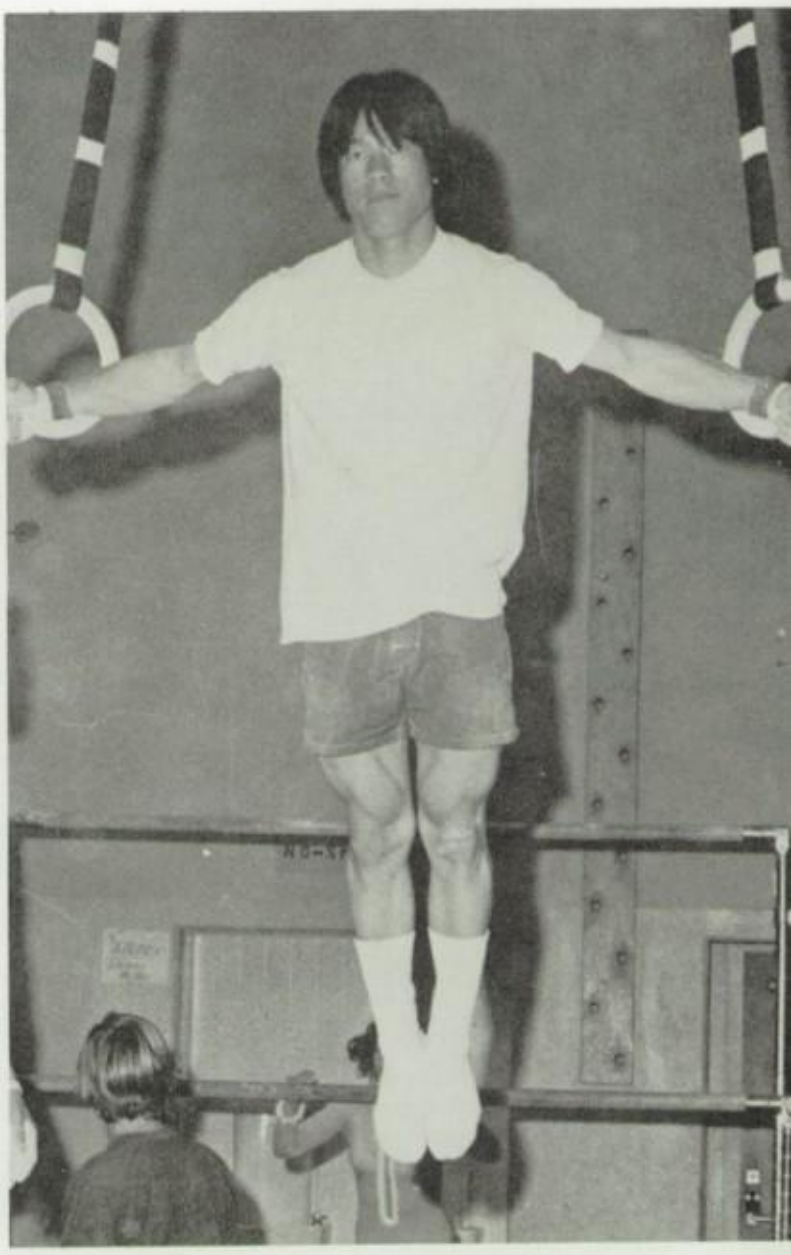
Richard Gishi positions himself in the "straddle" on the floor exercise.

Glenn Takenage points his toes as he makes a "V" on the floor exercise.

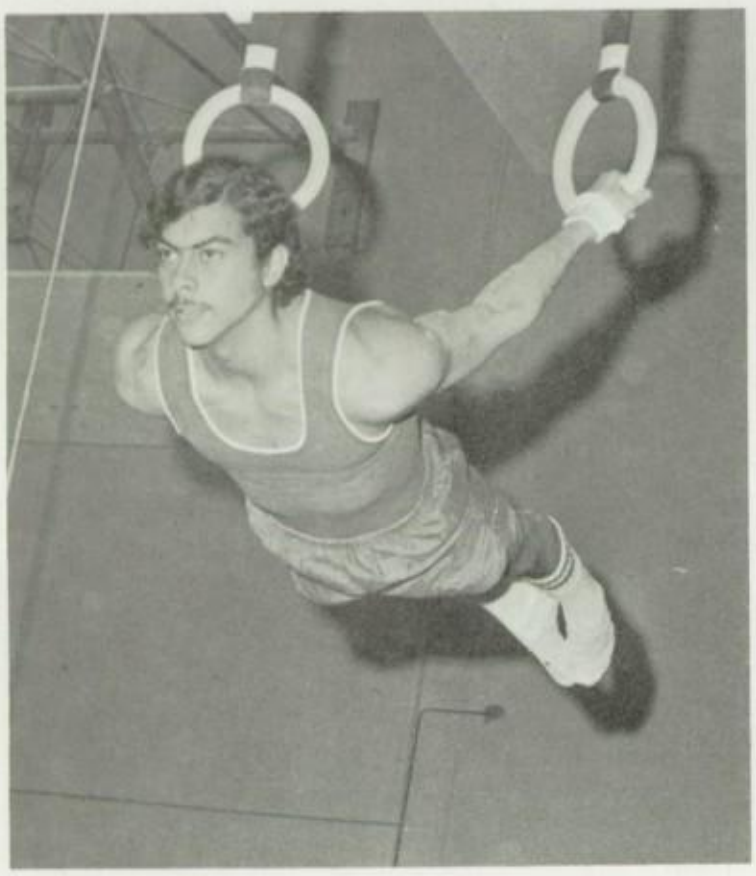


Gymnist Paul Van Ruiten demonstrates his skills by setting a new school record of 8.9 on the high bar.

Junior, Bruse McGregor does a high scale in his free-X routine.



Peter Stratton exhibits an iron cross on the still rings.



Senior, Art Cruz performs a back level position on the rings.

Junior, Rick DeLuca demonstrates an "L" Cross on the rings.

Gymnist team member, senior Richard Gishi steadily pushes himself into the plunge position with great strength on the parallel bars.

Coaches Leon Crawford and Fred Marquez are all smiles after winning a meet.

Top performer, Paul Van Ruiten makes a difficult move by doing the "ono" on the high bar.

"GYMNASTICS RATED NO. 1 IN C.I.F." AS QUOTED IN L.A. TIMES

Future top ring performer, is junior Bob Harris doing a handstand on the rings.

Trio ring performers are Pete Stratton, Rick DeLuca, and Art Cruz after winning in individuals on rings.

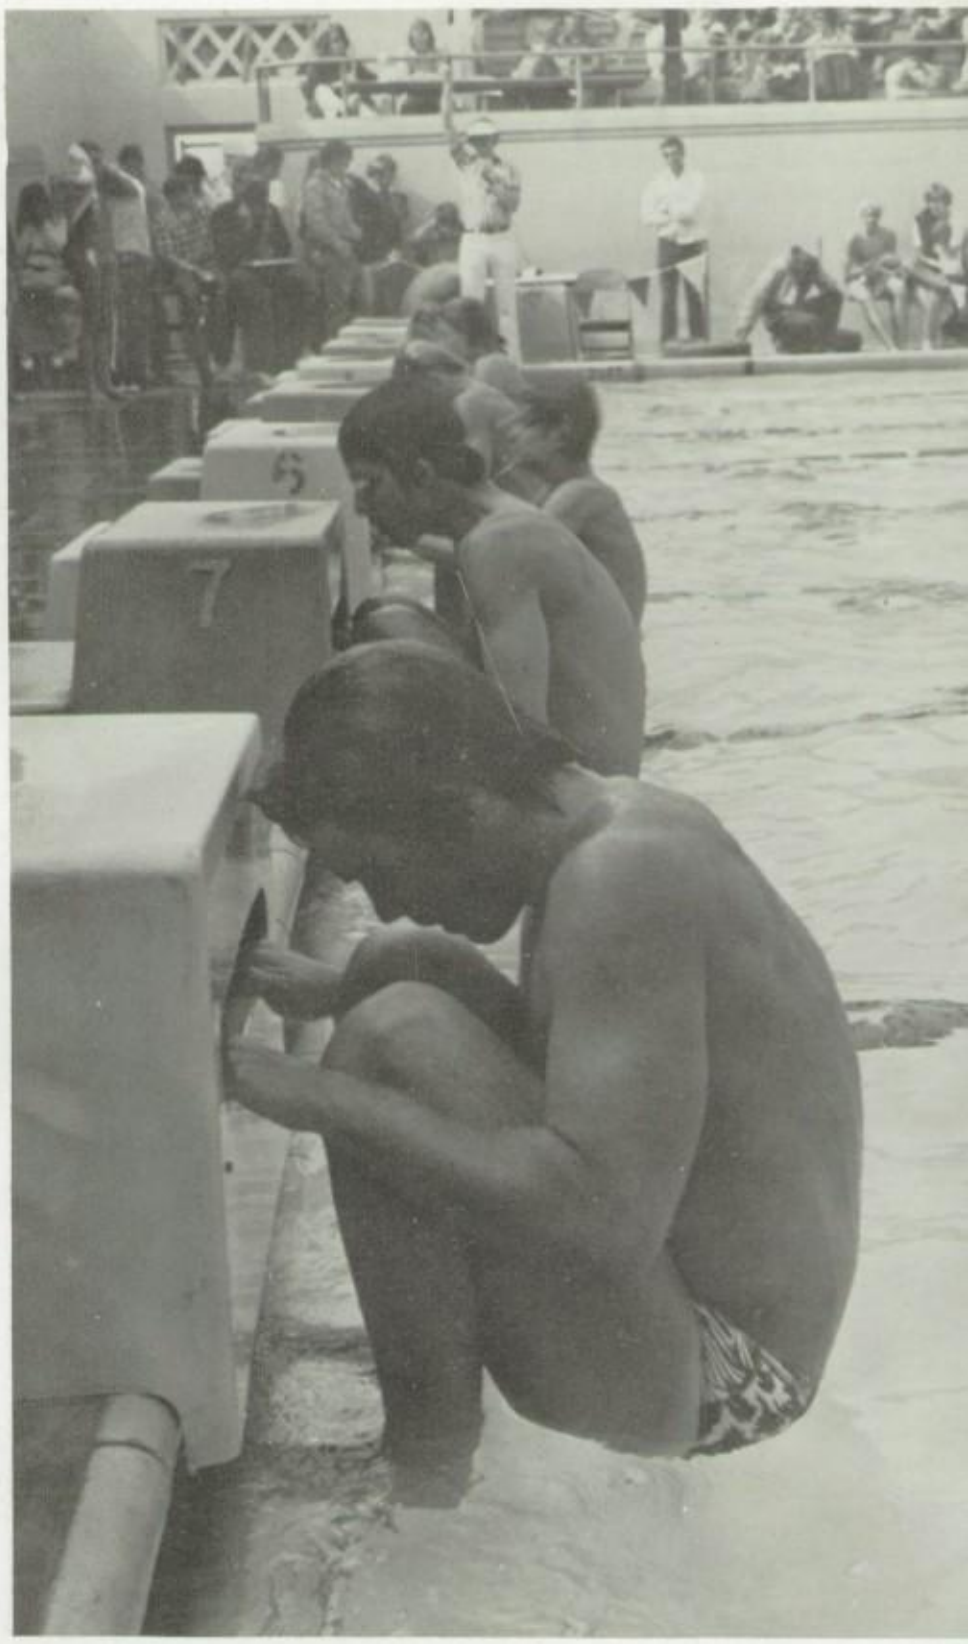
Gilbert Wyatt curls on the pommel horse with great strength.

Junior Rick DeLuca finds time to clown around and does the "granny L cross" on the rings.

Steve Woesner exhibits a powerful butterfly stroke.

Senior, Jon Huntley finishes first in the 50 freestyle. Jon was one of the top sprinters on the team this past year.

Senior, Randy Saul shows his best backstroke.



Ready to take off is junior, Mike Kingsbury.

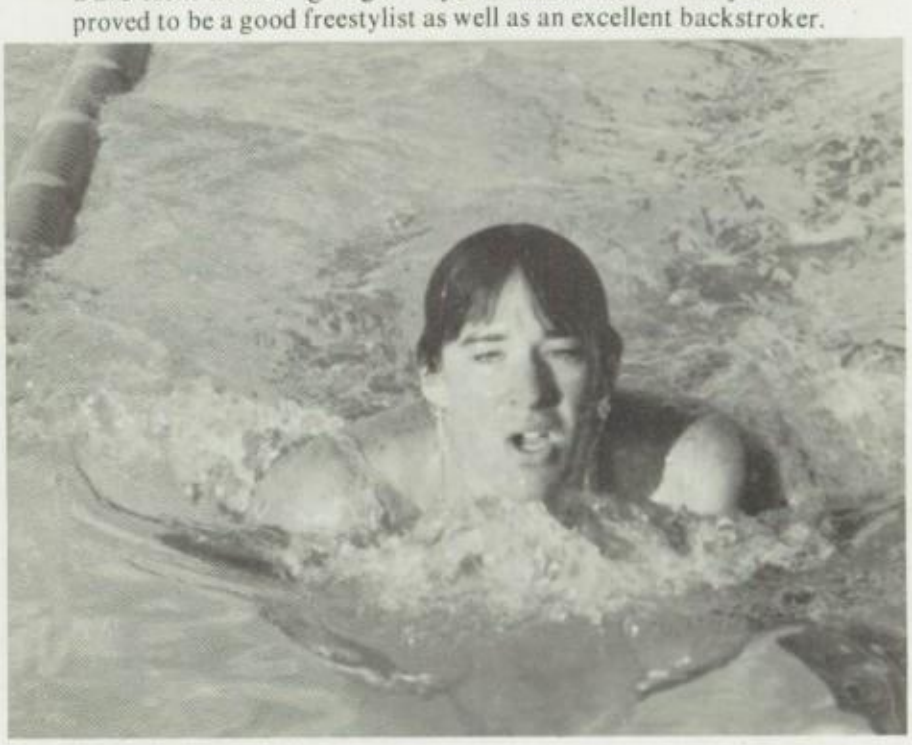
Senior, Mike Puleo demonstrates his unbelievable strength by lifting 1200 lbs. Mike was also one of the best sprinters on the team.

Divers gather around before their supurb performances. Top diver this year was Mitch Goldstein whose dives were "flawless."

Senior, Bob Lewis performs a perfect butterfly stroke.

Dave Kent makes "goo-goo" eyes at the camera. This year Dave proved to be a good freestylist as well as an excellent backstroker.

"Oh they caught us Mike!!" exclaims Dann Neugabauer. Happiness to these two "fellows" is skipping off to the bathroom hand-in-hand in their speedos.



Mike Hurban comes to the end of the 100 breaststroke with a look of relief on his face.

"Student Government is students elected to work together in co-operation with the faculty and administration to make this educational institution more enjoyable for those students attending."

Student Government Worked for a More Spirited Year

Letting the students know what was happening and getting them involved in scholastic activities was the goal of the Student Government this year. Student Government, known as the House of Lords, sponsors fun things that have become Westminster's traditions over the years; Such as the spirited Pep Parade, the United Crusade week campaign, and the exciting Donkey Basketball game. This year was better than ever. There were new and different things happening. In October there was Horror Film Night, featuring the movie, "Tales From the Crypt", which was an overwhelming success. Custom buttons were sold, offering the students a chance to design their own. Even Santa Claus came to visit the campus and students had their pictures taken on the jolly old saint's lap. As football has a Homecoming Queen, Basketball had it's first Coronation Queen to reign over all spring sports. All this helped in making the year a fun and happy one.

At mid-semester, senior Mitch Gellman graduated and vacated the position of ASB treasurer. New applications were taken, and sophomore Dale Freer was chosen. He is a hard worker and enjoyed taking over.

The twenty-five students which make up the House of Lords gather around together in order of their position, for their final time.

Sherry Barber and Kim Johns help hold up the prop which hides the secret of the "Spirit Lion", played by Mike Whittenberg.

House of Lord members dress in lively costume playing the roles of Santa, delivering goodies during homeroom periods.

Dennis Boswell and Susy Wakefield, join in on a discussion offering their opinions and suggestions.

Busily working are Melissa Bryson and Mike Whittenberg, making buttons ordered by the student body.

Public Relation Classes, Graphic Arts, Radio Production Classes, Are the Working Groups for W.H.S.

1) Tony Engedal lends a hand to Julie Love who is busy with a telephone message. 2) Disc Jockey, Don DeLuca, makes preparation for his radio station here at Westminster, K.W.H.S. 3) Using a "T" square, graphic artist Keith Thompson eagerly begins work on a design. 4) Don Blake gets ready to "get things rolling" on a printing press in the graphic arts department. 5) Paul Murrietta skillfully utilizes his talent for concentration as he goes about his work in the P.I.O. 6) Mike Parrish operates a camera during a production. 7) Melody Carter puts up important information in the public information windows.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

PRESIDENT - Roxanne Richter

VICE-PRESIDENT - Stacey VanAlst

TREASURER - Dawna Baker

SECRETARY - Kathie Baker

REPRESENTATIVE - Jamie Ware

Seniors Karen Zaleski, Brenda Freitag, Janice Schneible, and friends relax as they enjoy their delicious polynesian food. At show time, everyone had fun watching the girls do some fast moving dances in their Hawaiian costumes.

Our lion mascot looks through a poster, while pepsters await impatiently with football fans the entrance of the mighty Lions.

Kathy Peterson, Ernestina Vargas, Janice Minnis, and Ramona Rivera seem to all be enjoying the Hawaiian atmosphere.

Dave Kent and Dale Cantrell seem to be getting all of the attention, as they clown around during the Senior Luau.

Steve Alverson and Rich Smith observe from the sidelines, the great effort that must be made in order to score six points.

ALL THAT WE SEE OR SEEM,
IS BUT A DREAM WITHIN A DREAM

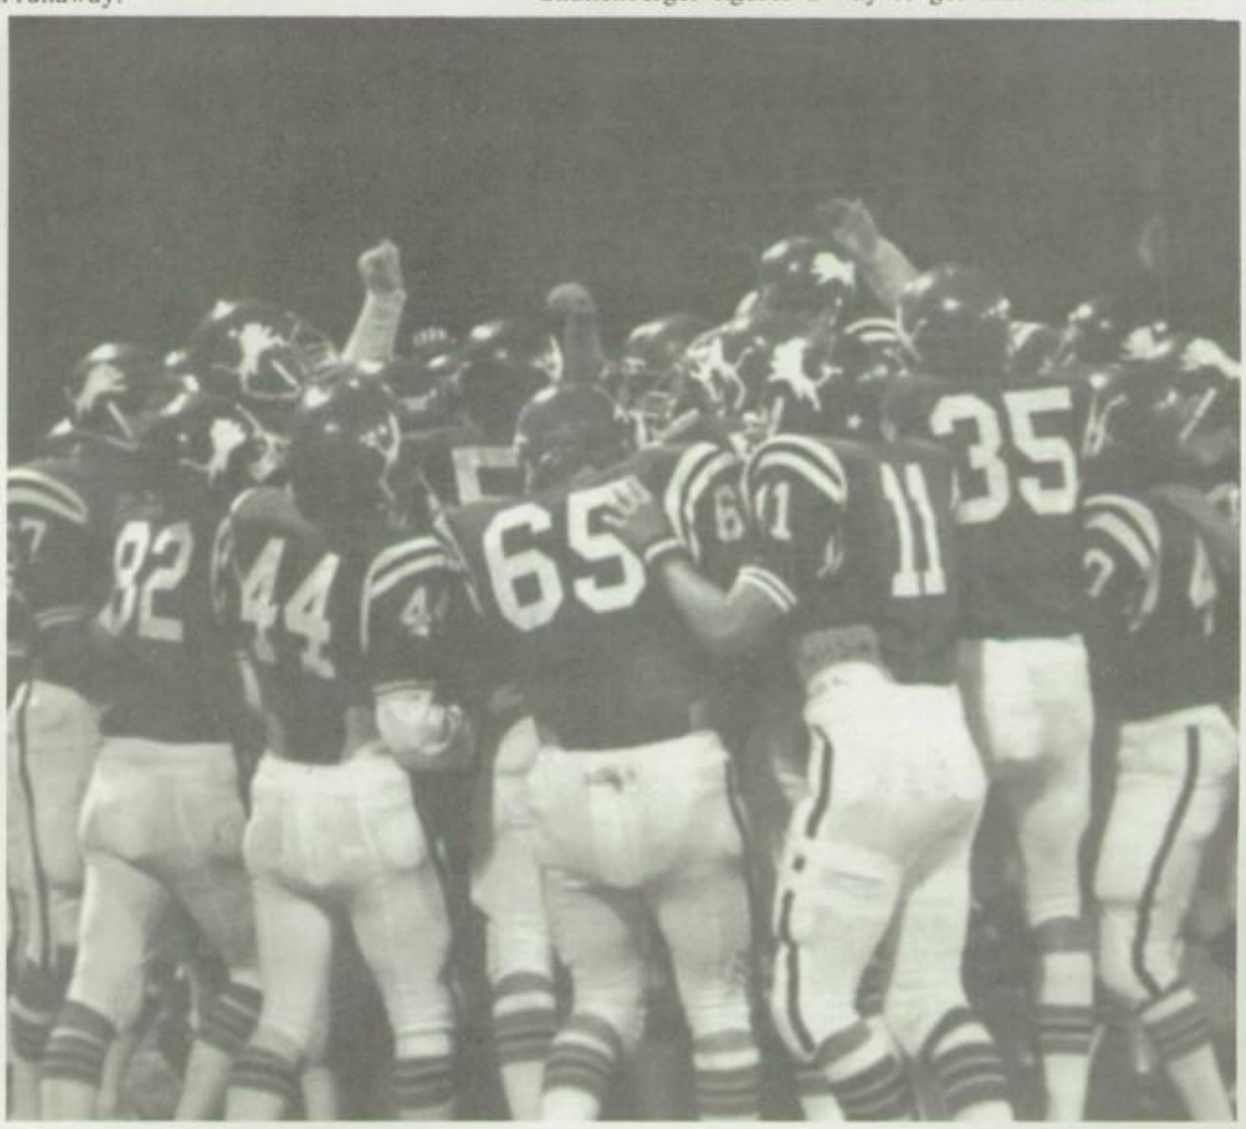
I DON'T KNOW WHERE I'M GOING

Senior Greg Skjonsby, saddles the wagon to prove that beating Western was a real runaway.

"Gee, this is fun," says Mallory Hill. Meanwhile, Susy Shallenberger figures a way to get him off her back.

Karen Zaleski jump ropes to the finish line, during a pep rally.



"Every day, in every way, we get a little better, hey. Every day, in every way, we get a little better, hey. Every day, in every way, we get a little better, hey, hey, hey." This is said in a huddle.

BUT I'M ON MY WAY

WHS song girls pose in their group, proudly singing the school's Alma Mater after a football game. This was one of the familiar scenes happening at Westminster High School.

Senior Scott Klamer tackles down opponent, while Monty Degenhardt and Mike DeHerrera go in to help.

Jessica Villarreal, Wendy Horton, Phil Grassbaugh, Ron DeCaprio, Jenny Domnick, Steve Moore, and Richard Clemens eat together at Senior Luau.

Mathew Maduzia and his friend struggle to open a coconut that was on the table. The bad part was that it took longer to open, than it did to eat.

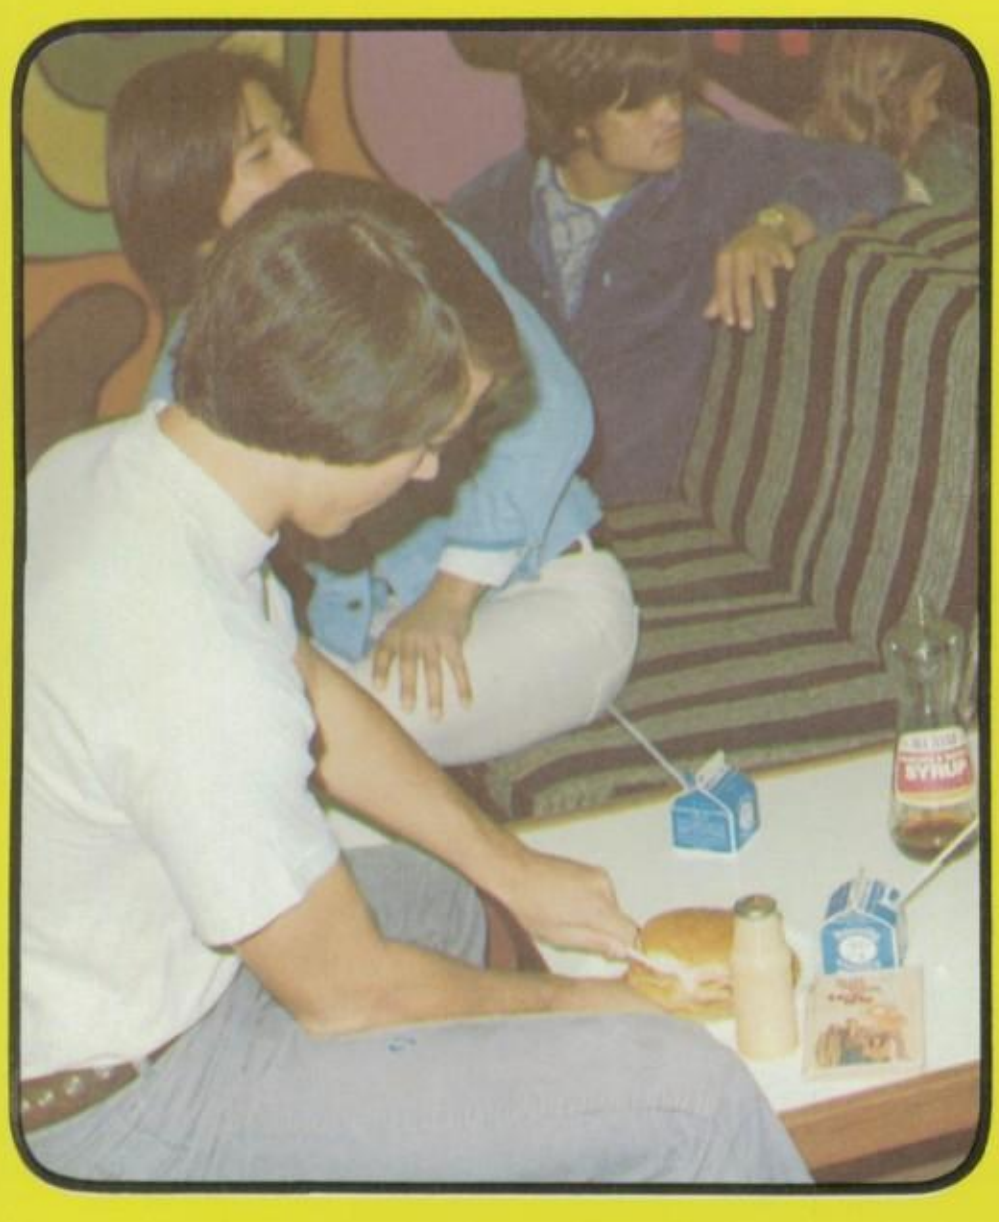
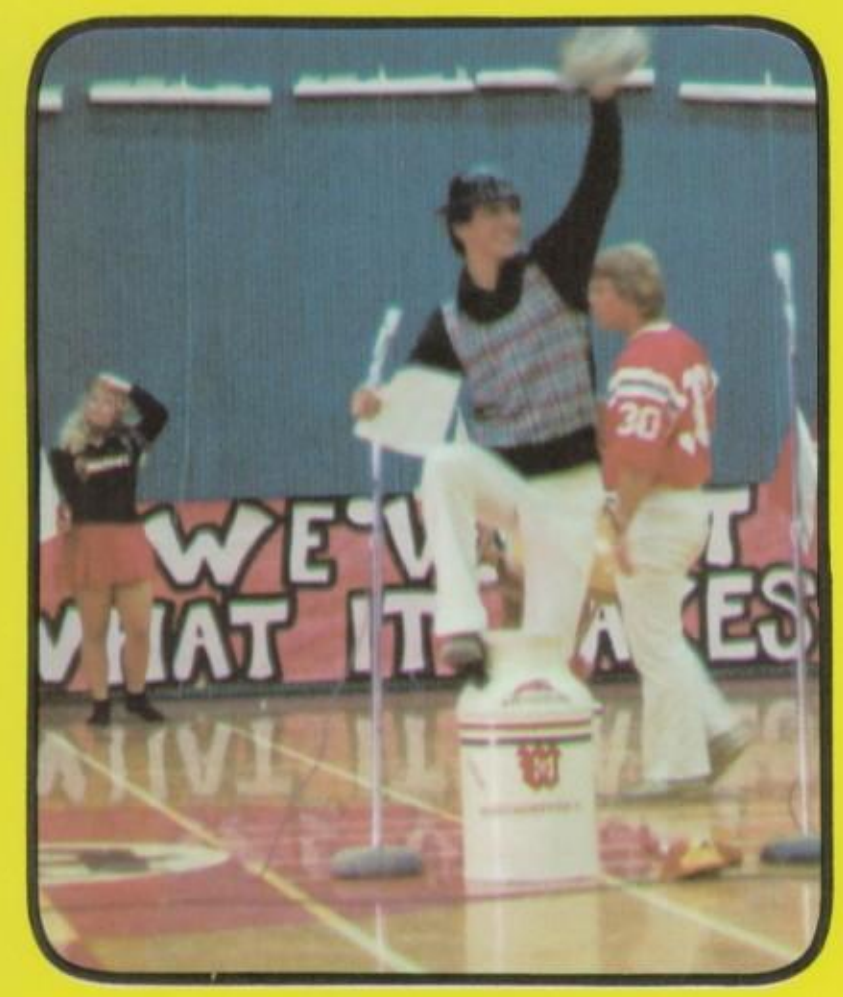
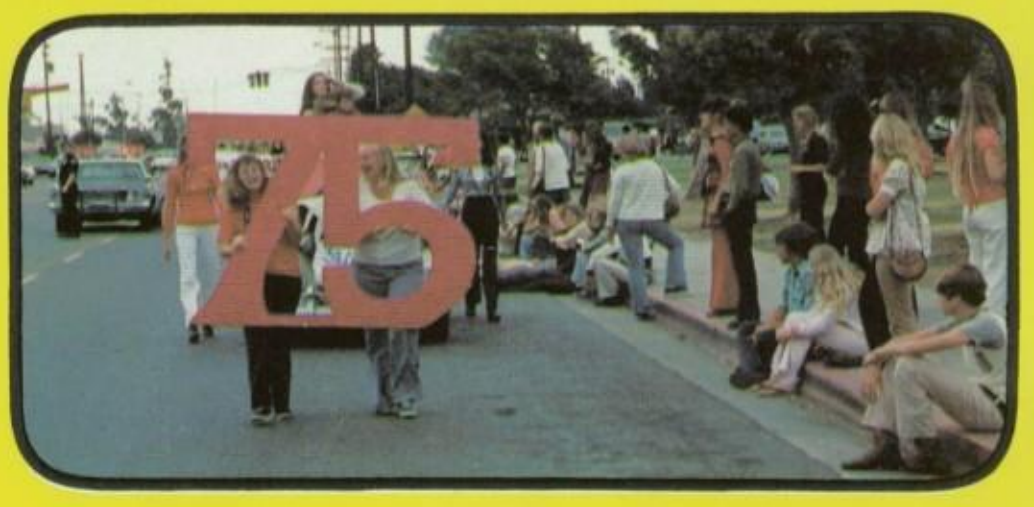
WE SEE THE REFLECTIONS OF WHAT WE ARE







WE finally made it! Four years went right before us, without ever realizing that it would soon be our turn to leave. But all four years won't be forgotten.

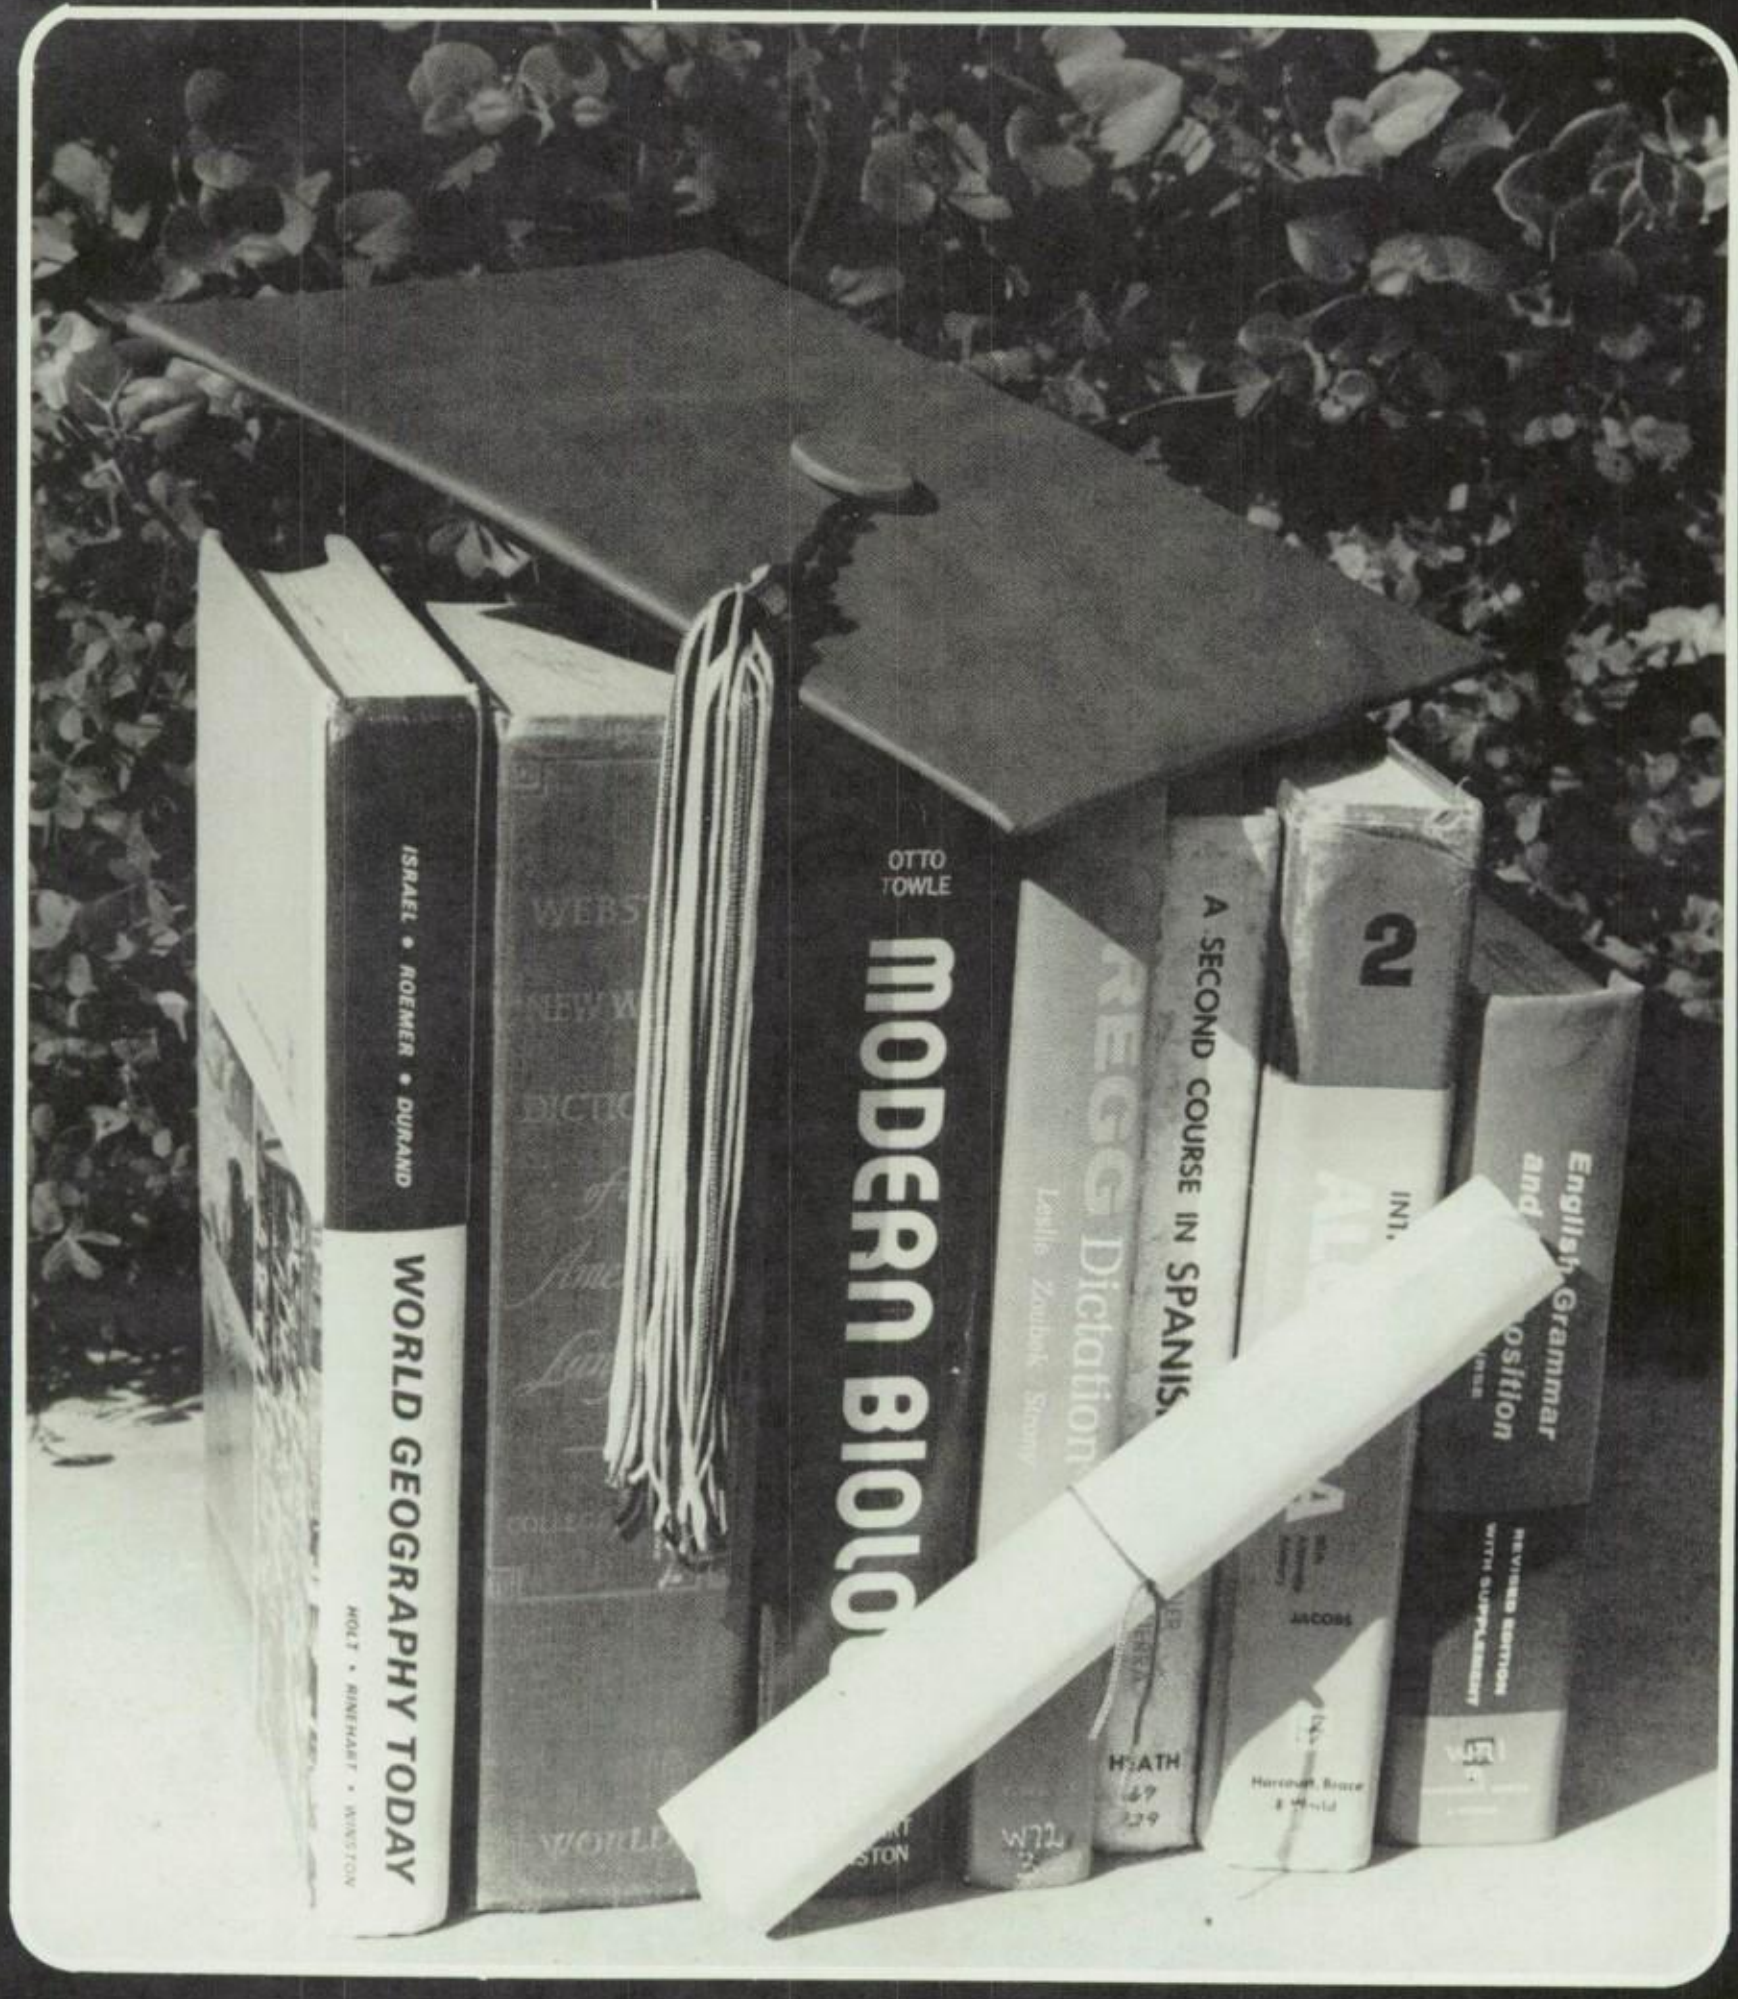
The first day as Freshmen, in Sept. 1971, everyone was lost. (The campus was so big and overcrowded.) Freshmen elections were held and Class President Bruce Marston led the Class of '75. (Alright)

Then in our Sophomore year, we sponsored the Peasant's Prom. The theme was "He loves me - He loves me not." Sports were hot in our Sophomore year. (Both Water Polo and Football went to CIF.) Class rings were ordered, and that cost a fortune.

Talking about our Junior year, that was something else. We had eight students s-t-r-e-a-k through our campus. (Three guys were locked out of their car because their keys were left inside in their pants.) Boo! It was also our turn to sponsor the Junior-Senior Prom which was held at the Disneyland Hotel.

Finally we're SENIORS! (A long way from our freshmen year.) The Senior Luau was fun, food, and frolicking. Before we knew it, graduation was upon us.

Now that it's all over, we can reflect back on our four years of memories never to be forgotten.



NOW THAT WE HAVE REACHED OUR GOAL, WE CAN LOOK BACK AND SAY IT WAS ALL WORTH WHILE

INTERVIEW:

"They Don't Care About the Students"

By Lorri Capelouto

Involvement is the key to success in Westminster High School. For Debbie Hiraga, this statement is very true and she can prove it.

Debbie is a senior and has been at Westminster for the entire four years. When asked which of her four years was the best for her, she replied, "My junior year was my best because that was the year I was most involved. I even received the 'Junior of the Year' award."

Debbie feels one problem at Westminster is the lack of student involvement. Debbie also thinks the teachers are not doing their part in getting involved with their students. "They don't care about the students," claims Debbie.

What can a student get involved in? According to Debbie, the clubs are good to get involved in and the sports program is well run, but she feels the other school oriented activities are not run in an organized manner and therefore are not interesting.

Art and cooking are some of Debbie's interests and her goal for the future is to continue school at the Los Angeles Art School of Design. She would like to work toward being an advertising illustrator.

Debbie likes the wide choice of classes offered at Westminster, but says it's not quite fulfilling for her. "The art department students are limited by lack of funds for supplies. If there is not enough money for certain supplies, the teacher will not introduce that particular art project."

Overall, Debbie feels Westminster is too crowded and the construction took away from her senior year. In the future, she would like to see murals and student involvement in bettering the appearance of Westminster High School.

INTERVIEW:
"They Were Always Very Helpful. . ."

By Mike Miller

"My four years at Westminster passed faster than have any other years," began Randy Saul reminiscing about his high school days. But they weren't so fast that he would forget what he considers to be two of the best programs on campus; athletics and the music department.

Randy started in the music program as a sophomore in concert choir. Then as a senior, Randy joined the choraleers. "In the choraleers, I like to be able to get out and sing more than we did in concert choir." Also he felt that choraleers is more personal because of its smaller size. For Mr. Sutherland, the director, Randy had only praise. Because of the music and aquatics, Randy feels that his four years weren't as monotonous as they could have been.

Another program on campus Randy felt that was excellent was the Career Guidance Program. "They are always very helpful to me in either finding a job or determining a future career."

The curriculum, Randy feels, is a good one. However, much of the time he felt there was no challenge in his classes and "every year the administration was lowering the requirements for graduation so anyone was able to slide through." For Randy himself, he feels that "if I were to go to a four year college it would really be a struggle."

All in all, Randy definitely feels the four years were "in no way a waste."

INTERVIEW:
"I Got to Know the Right People. . ."

By Amy Anderson

Mike Arnwine was pretty tired at the time of this interview. He had just come home from his janiter job in the Westminster Mall, and they must work him pretty hard there because his voice was a hoarse whisper. However, he managed to rasp out a few answers.

Mike is one of the few black students at Westminster High School, and he sums up his feelings about the first time he came here in one word; "scared". Yet, he soon lost that feeling because people like Curnal Rungo and Rob Yoder made him feel at home. As Mike puts it, "I got to know the right people, and made a lot of good friends."

As for the school itself, Mike likes it and thinks it is a good one. "I don't feel tied down like there were locks around the school," he states. He also thinks the school does well in sports, that the people are cool, and the teachers are nice, (with a couple of exceptions). He particularly enjoyed a health class taught by Mrs. Maurer. He does, however, comment, "I wish the supervision would lighten up." Evidently, they were going to make him work on Saturdays for the school. He did not reveal for what reason.

In his spare time (which there does not seem to be much of, since it was pretty hard to get hold of him for this interview), he enjoys playing football on weekends and going to parties.

INTERVIEW:
"...Because They Were Concerned..."

By Yolanda Tellez

Paul Kellehar has taken almost every science course available on campus; has collected bugs for the Science Department in Africa; and has been an active member in the Ecology Club. Paul came to Westminster as a sophomore from Fairfax High School in Virginia.

As a sophomore, Paul joined the Ecology Club where members sought to make a small zoo or museum. The reason was based on the fact that Westminster does not have any natural and undeveloped place to go. It was during this time that the conservation movement was becoming a serious problem. "Alot of people like to do things for wealth without thinking of the consequences. That is how the Ecology Club got its boost. The people in the club were there because they were concerned about what these people were not concerned with. There are two different kinds of concerns—concern for the beauty of our country and other people's concern for wealth. It was from the Ecology Club that the Nature Center got its start," says Paul.

It began with a small piece of land given to the Science Dept. for a Nature Center. With the land, the Ecology Club started the center by drawing plans and by recruiting people to get them involved.

After the plans were made they were taken over to the city and asked for assistance. Consenting to help, the city came out to the site of the future Nature Center and donated about three thousand dollars worth of time and effort digging out the pond and doing all the landscaping. "Before asking the city for help in what was considered a worthy project, the students were so determined and enthused that much of the digging and pulling of weeds was done by the students alone, with the aid of shovels and wheelbarrows. The students on the center now do what gardening is necessary, keep counts of fish, and are keeping biological records of the center," Paul adds.

INTERVIEW:

"...Remembers "Magic Ring"..."

By Lori Pollack

Mallory Hill, a good looking senior boy, discussed with me his memories of Westminster High School.

When Mallory arrived here as a freshman he was convinced that high school would be giant and impersonal. He expected to dislike school. But Westminster was better than he had anticipated. "It turned out pretty good," he says now.

He remembers the friends he had. All of them turned out to have signed up for his Traffic/Safety class. "Friday nights were always good, after football games. Everybody goes to Blinky's and asks where the parties are."

Mallory also remembers the 'magic ring' and getting out to class to go to assemblies. Apparently, Mallory's friends may be female also, for he remembers girl watching.

Many of Mallory's memories deal with getting caught goofing off. In his freshman year, he threw jujubees at the teachers. He remembers getting sent to his counselor and goofing off at football games and pep rallies.

He remembers the streakers and has definite opinions on their activities. "It's all right. If somebody doesn't like it, they don't have to look." Would he approve of them on campus? "Yes, as long as they don't get caught." Mallory himself would not streak unless he were with a few other friends.

He also remembers teachers. He likes Mr. Hickok. "I've never had a teacher like him before."

Mallory says that when he looks back on Westminster, his memories will be mostly good ones.

INTERVIEW:
"...We Do Have a Problem..."

By Dena Di Vito

Mary Lou Cordero, a graduating senior, has some strong opinions over what she feels is the racial problem on campus.

"Yes, we do have a problem on campus; it's between the Anglos and the Chicanos. They don't get along. I guess it's because we always get into our groups, but what people don't realize is that the Anglos get in their groups also."

"It's hard, but there's too much prejudice on campus."

As for a solution to the problem "there really can't be one, because all the Chicanos stick together. We were brought up in different surroundings. I was brought up in the Anglos', but I'm more for the Chicanos because of the way I was brought up by my parents, in the Mexican American tradition. "Here the Chicanos talk Anglo and Spanish mixed and that helps a lot, but we're always in our groups and we'll always stay in our groups."

Mary Lou does state "I think the Chicanos should become more active in things, not so much as in a group, but individually."

"They should get more active in sports. I know guys who have tried and gotten into it, but they don't like it because their friends aren't in it, just Anglos and this makes them uncomfortable. They also feel that some of the coaches are unfair."

"I've been in G.A.A. for four years, and I didn't like it at first, but I stuck with it, because I liked sports a lot. No matter what anybody says, I will stay with it. There were times when I was by myself and the Anglos would go off with each other, but I shined it off, and now I like it a lot."

What was really impressive about Mary Lou was her strong attitude. She gives you the impression that she cannot be defeated. This is a hard attitude to find in many people, and it will certainly work to her advantage in years to come.

INTERVIEW:
The 'Unheralded Minority' Speaks

By Brad Witt

Larry Vogel represents an unheralded minority among high school students. As a vocational student, he feels that his particular training, graphic arts, will prepare him for his career more than a college education.

The value of vocational training is important to Larry. "There is one major change I would like to see in a high school. The only thing a high school prepares a student for is college, and it really doesn't prepare somebody who doesn't want to go on to college to do anything else."

Larry was asked if the graphic arts classes could improve in any way. "I don't think so," he remarked. "I've heard that our high school photography class is better than Golden West College's photography class."

Larry offered some valuable advice to freshmen. "Every freshman should have the decision made concerning whether they are planning on going to college or working on a vocation after high school. The prospective college student should check out the classes that are offered, and use our resource centers to look into different colleges and their requirements. The freshman who really seeks a vocation should look into the Industrial Arts Department."

"The only difference between being a freshman and a senior is being a junior and a sophomore. The juniors and sophomores are in school, and they realize they have further to go. The freshman realizes that he's coming into a new school and it's going to be fun. The senior is seeing his last year at high school, and realizes that it's going to be a lot of fun getting out. So the senior and freshman have a lot in common."

"I've often said to people that, if I could, I would stay in high school. The classes you are able to take are interesting, and you really can't learn everything that the school has to offer in four years. I'd probably put more into it the second time around." But right now, Larry Vogel is happy just to finish the first time around.

INTERVIEW:
"...I Don't Know If I'm Ready..."

By Brad Witt

For Paul Murrieta, the four years at Westminster High School have passed by all too quickly. "Its been a fast four years. All of a sudden, I don't know if I'm ready. It seems as if graduation has just been thrown upon me."

As an active student for the past four years, Paul has seen an important gradual change in the administration of the campus. "The school seems to be ... a lot more at ease ... not as tense ... more or less, a 'come and go as you please' type of deal. I guess that's not what they want, but that's what it is. They're not as tight on discipline as they used to be, the way I thought it was when I was a freshman or sophomore. Maybe it's just because I'm older now, and I see it more from an 'I don't care' attitude."

Social studies has been Paul's major course of study. His immediate goal is to become a Psychology major in college. Paul remarked on the purpose for his studies. "I never thought about the importance of social studies. It's just something that interests me, especially history. I really like to be somewhere where something really important happened in history. My goal is to go back east and go up and down the coast seeing all the battlefields and such."

Paul Murrieta views his high school years as perhaps the greatest period of change in his life. His advice to underclassmen is an example of the personal philosophy which Paul has maintained. "In the freshman and sophomore years, put your shoulder to the wheel and really put out the work during those two years. That's more or less what I tried to do, and it just makes for a great junior and senior year! Its been a fast four years!"

INTERVIEW:
"My Freshmen Year Was Terrible."

By Dean Zatkowsky

Although most students tend to blame administration and faculty for the inadequacies of our school, Karen Kibler feels that individuals are to blame. When asked where Westminster High School had failed her, Karen replied, "It hasn't failed me at all." She believes that our programs at WHS have done very well for her, although she admits there are others whom the programs do not fit.

"I know a girl who wants to quit school because there just aren't any classes for her to take, but I'm just the opposite. There are so many classes that I want to take that I can't have them all." Karen tells me that education is a matter of personal initiative, and if you want the curriculum to work for you, it will.

Karen's major complaint was in regard to the school's system of training student teachers. She states: "I've had some really bad ones, and I don't think it is fair for them to experiment on us. Sometimes they're too hard and sometimes too easy, and only the students suffer for a bad teacher."

The point that Karen pressed most deeply into this reporter's mind (by mere repitition) was the fact that the school has improved vastly since her freshmen year. "My freshmen year was terrible. There was nothing for a person if he or she wanted to try something different."

The two departments that have improved the most, in Karen's opinion, are Home Economics and GAA. "Since they have opened up Home Ec. to the guys it has become a far more important department, because it really is necessary for guys to take the course too. I think girls' sports has also become much better in the past few years. Now that they're in C.I.F. it's really great."

We all see the obvious problems everyday on campus, but you must admit, as Karen Kibler says, "There have been a lot of improvements here."

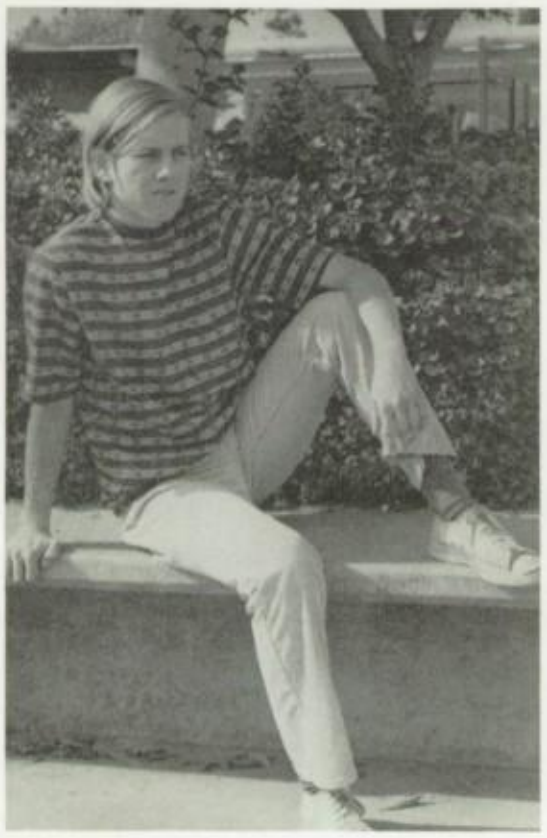
INTERVIEW:
"They Let You Ask Questions. . ."



By Dena Di Vito

Math has never been known to be one of the easiest subjects in the world to tackle, so those who do an exceptional job are exceptions themselves.

Glen Williams is a graduating student here at Westminster high who has begun successfully to conquer this field.

Nominated in this subject of mathematics in his sophomore year and receiving a madallion in his junior year, Glen plans to put it to use during his upcoming years by majoring "in a field which is associated with math."

"The math program here at Westminster is pretty good. There's only one thing I can see to improve it. When a student is in Junior High he usually takes algebra, and when he gets here he continues up until his junior year. From here he must go on to college for advanced courses. To better the program, they could offer the courses here for the students who are interested."

"All the Math courses I've been through have been really good. Math is a subject that really scares kids, but a good teacher can change that attitude." A teacher is a really important part of a math course. "Good teachers are those who don't assume you know everything before you walk in the room. They let you ask questions and are patient in explanations."

In putting two and two together here you come up with intelligence and future success for Glen Williams.

INTERVIEW:
"Girls Sports Is Becoming Big in School"

By Ramona Rivera

As GAA President, Becky Johnson is one of the many girls that is actively involved in girls sports.

"Girl's sports are just recently becoming a bigger part of school involvement. More and more girls are becoming aware of the program and CIF sports are giving more girls a chance to get involved," states Becky.

GAA does not play as big a role as it used to because of CIF sports, but it does give girls a chance to compete with other schools. One difference is that GAA classes don't compete as much as the CIF, but nor do they work as hard.

Since everyone has their own favorite sport, there are many different sports available to girls trying out for CIF teams. Many of which are CIF Volleyball, Tennis, Field Hockey, Basketball, Gymnastics, Track and Field, Swimming and Diving, Softball, and Badminton.

The CIF teams practice for approximately two hours a day after school, depending on the sport. Tryouts are held for all CIF teams somtime during the school year. (Except Gymnastics) The coaches test each girl on her skills, ability, and effort toward the sport.

"In my opinion," Becky says, "the teachers do a very good job."

INTERVIEW:

"That Year Went Very Slow"

By Debbie Silverman

ASB President, Mitch Goldstein, feels that Westminster offers the best selection of classes than any other school in this area.

"There were so many classes, that I wasn't able to take half the ones I wanted. But the ones I took will be beneficial for my future plans," states Mitch.

When asked which was his favorite year at WHS, Mitch said, "My senior year." I'm active in over five clubs, class council, student government, and I'm on the spring board diving team. The clubs I'm in are senior class council, Latin, Varsity, radio, speech and debate."

His least favorite year was his sophomore. "During my sophomore year I didn't run for office. I was only in two clubs. I wasn't even active in those clubs. That year went very slow. I became over anxious to have the year end."

"By being student body president, I have learned to associate with people that I would never have met. By meeting Mr. Kolonaski regularly, I have learned to not only work for the administration but also with the administration."

"I feel a student should be involved in at least one activity at Westminster. High school is something you will remember for the rest of your life. If you don't get involved, high school can be and will be very dull."

SUNRISE TO SUNSET

It is the age!

The day begins. Students come; on foot, bikes, busses, or cars. All come for different reasons, having little in common except for the fact that all attend school.

Some students keep busy while at school; some just bum around. School is a programmed part of every student's life; whether we like it or not. Some take advantage and do their best; other's don't.

From sunrise to sunset, the school holds students, doing what they will. All are different; striving for different goals; or striving for none. This is the age when personalities become individual and grow. Students may rise. Students may fall. Students may float in the middle. Whatever they may do, this is the time that many decisions for the coming years are made, or missed. It is an age of hope.

Never will one witness so many impossible dreams and wishes, as those dreams hoped for when at the high school level. To conquer all seems so slight a thing. Anything can be accomplished, but for some reason, as time goes on, those same accomplishments become intangible. It is this intangibility that slowly engulfs all hopes that were once so close to reality, but now remain as unreal as far away dreams of long ago.

Still, while we are young, there is still that flicker of hope that one day, at least a few may reach for their own goals, and through devotion, and dedication, some will attain those goals. And it is these same individuals that will be really "living", in every form of the word.

CAMPUS IMPROVEMENT

Changes come to WHS

People must change with the times, it is true. The same goes for schools. Westminster High was built for 2200 students, and in the 1974-75 school year, there were 3800 students. Obviously, some changes had to be made. This year reality was met.

Seeing bull-dozers, shovels, and other large machines was a common occurrence this year. Construction was a much talked of subject. What exactly was added? Here are some examples: showers, restrooms, and a workroom for the agriculture department; a wrestling and gymnastics room addition to the gym. (Now the gym is the same size as other school gyms in the district).

Other items include: air conditioning; an ample amount of volleyball, basketball, and tennis courts for the P.E. department, plus the locker rooms being doubled in size; the library was made one-third larger; a new administration building; over 200 more parking places; restrooms at the stadium; buildings were repainted; and various other much needed additions.

The reason for all this change was to get Westminster High's standards up with the standards of other schools in the district. Unfortunately, Westminster High is still overcrowded; as is every other high school in the district. An effort was made to build another school, but the tax payers weren't for it, (not 51% of them anyway), and the tax override failed.

This brings us to a solemn fact: Though the district is housed for approximately 16 thousand students, there are 19 thousand students now, and a predicted 22 thousand in 1980. What is the answer to the constant growing? Maybe there isn't one; but the construction that has gone on this year is at least a start. It may not be the answer, but hopefully, it will be a step in the right direction.

CURRICULUM

It's your attitude

Tests; last minute assignments; temperamental teachers; monotony; trials and tribulations of the dumb person that sits behind you that caused you to get an "F" on your test, because he asked you a question, and you turned around to tell him to ... Of course, you got blamed for it; failure notices the week before Christmas, (better hope that Santa's address is unlisted); and an overall ruining of your Friday nights because of a report that's due on Monday. Curriculum. Don't we love it?

High school days are days of work and exertion, but that's not all high school is. Ofcourse, school has to include all the fatigue of curriculum; however, if you are a creative and stable person, you probably manage to get a few laughs in during your stay at WHS.

Being in a classroom with a teacher that insists that talking is against the rule is kind of uncomfortable at times, agreed. Eventually, though, you can figure out ways of having a good time even if you're slightly restricted. Students eventually get used to the idea that school does involve a certain amount of unpleasant things to do; but if adjustments are made, the work can be brought down to size and not be the first thing brought to mind when the word "school" is mentioned.

Learning is a main part of school, but, as everyone knows, there are several different methods of learning. How easy or hard learning is, is really up to the student. Sure, you can look at school in all of the negative ways you want, and cram your life away. Or, you can take school on in a positive manner, accepting the fact that it's not going to be all fun. (Though a large per cent of it can be, if you play your cards right.) It's all up to you, as the student. Your boredom of school cannot be wholly blamed on any teacher. With that in mind, how about redoing something ...

Tests, (do the best you can and let it go at that); last minute assignments, (so study with a friend!); temperamental teachers, (it's a common phenomenon in most humans); monotony, (life isn't all peaches and cream); trials and tribulations of the teacher reading secret love notes written to the person behind you, that wasn't made for the ears of a freshmen geography class; failure notices, (better luck next time); going out on Friday nights, (too much studying can be dangerous to one's state of mind, so a little fun, never hurt anyone. Tomorrow's another day). Curriculum. Don't we love it?

TITLE I

A misunderstood program

Mention Title I to an average WHS student and you'll probably get an up-turned nose and a remark that he's too "smart" for that. Too bad for him. He's only showing his ignorance when he makes this understatement. Contrary to popular opinion, Title I is not for the "dummies." Anyone who says that it is doesn't know what he's talking about.

Title I concerns itself with students with low achievements, who nevertheless have average or above average ability. The only difference between Title I students and non-Title I students, is that those who aren't in Title I are achieving closer to their individual potentials; while those in Title I are working to increase achievement to the individual potential. No question of intelligence is involved.

What exactly is done for Title I students that is not done for other students? Individualization is the key word here. Why? Because that's what these students need. In most classes there is a teacher, instructional aide, and a tutor. This is so that each student may be given the guidance and encouragement that is necessary.

A positive approach is an important part of the program. It is only through encouragement and confidence that the students are going to be stimulated to improve and try.

Title I isn't for the "dummies". It's a second chance to those students that haven't been able to fully grasp the first chance. Maybe with a little understanding and encouragement, these students will be able to take full advantage of their second chance.

E) Dan Heath receives emergency treatment at the hospital in advanced stages of a simulation.

POLICE SCIENCE

Class Is "Simulating"

"Pigs!"

You've most likely heard this "cry of outrage" at one time or another. You've probably also noticed that these kind of remarks usually come from people that know as much about policemen, as what they watch on T.V.; unfortunately, this is not the whole story.

Some students are learning what policing is about, through a program called Police Science, headed by Officer Proctor. In this program, students learn about the overall law enforcement and judicial systems, and police proceedure. They are exploring careers in police, probation, and parole.

Demonstrations such as simulations in a mock attempt murder trial, handcuffing techniques, and a major injury accident with the help of the Westminster Hospital's Disaster Training Proceedure were held.

In performing the demonstrations, and taking the course, it is hoped that the students will understand policemen, their duties and responsibilities, and the entire law enforcement system.

Who knows? Students may still say "Pigs!" at the sight of a policeman, but at least they'll know what they're talking about, and have something to base their opinions on. At any rate, they've learned something, and that's what school is all about.

WORK EXPERIENCE and JOB PLACEMENT

Made to work for every student

We don't need a depression to prove that getting a job is easier said than done. That is, a good job. Even when we're not in the midst of a depression, an average high school student may have some difficulty getting a job. There is a program on campus that can be very helpful to students looking for jobs. In fact, there's two; Work Experience and Job Placement. You needn't have any special talents to require Work Experience or Job Placement work for you. You need only to be concerned enough to find out what both of these programs are all about. Then, take full advantage of them.

Work Experience has a variety of classes that may interest you. There are CROP classes (Coastline Regional Occupational Program), and CAP classes (Career Assistance Program). Some CROP classes include: automotive services, clerical and computer equipment, cosmetology, financial occupations, dental aide, restaurant training, health occupations, and grocery store occupations. Some of the classes included in the CAP program, which are held at McDonald Douglas are: computer I, lithographic photography, instrumentation to computer programming, bindery, microfilm techniques, and introduction to computer programming.

As you can see, the number of programs has grown in the past years. This is because of the overwhelming interests and needs of the students. The student need only to be made aware of these programs and take the initiative to find out about them. A job cannot be obtained by sitting around and hoping that an employment agency will "discover" you and your talents. You must put forth some effort. If you do ask the help of these two programs, you will most likely get a job of some kind. Of course, there are no guarantees.

The least you can do is give Work Experience and Job Placement a chance. Or get a job on your own, if you can. Students should at least be made aware of the useful programs on campus, and when the occasion arrises, know enough to use them.

CAREER GUIDANCE CENTER

An answer to parent problems

Most kids know how it is to have their parents asking the reiterated question: What are you going to do after high school? There are many appropriate answers to this question. One of which would be "I'm checking those things out in the Career Guidance Center." Most parents would be more than satisfied with this answer, but kids are more likely to say "I don't know." At this point, parents usually ask themselves the "Question of Parenthood": Where did we go wrong? Traditionally, the daughter or son of these woe-begotten parents "split the scene", with the resolution that parents don't understand, and it's best to move out right after graduation.

And so ends another exciting episode of "As My Children Grow (Into Nobodys United of the World)." How can you, as an object of your parents' fears, avoid this high blood pressure scene? There is one appropriate solution: be sensible and check out the Career Guidance Center. It's really not so bad.

There are many useful services available that you should know about. VIEW (Vital Information for Education and Work) is a system of cards which have 374 occupation cards, and 132 current college and university cards. VIEW is obtained from the Orange County Department of Education in Santa Ana, and has 100 filmstrips on different careers and lifestyles, high school course selections, job interviews, etc. (Don't stop now, because there's still more.) Cassette tapes on the world of work making the students more aware are also available.

The latest tool is CVIS, (a computerized vocational information system), which gives students information on 450 different occupations, four-year colleges, community colleges, financial aides, scholarships, specialized and technical schools, apprenticeships and military information.

You don't have to know what you want to be to visit the Guidance Center. You can just browse around and check out things that you might be interested in. At any rate, isn't it alot easier to just look into possibilities of careers that may interest you, rather than start World War III with your woe-begotten parents?

EXTRACURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

'Takes three-fourths of my time'

Just try to go through one day of school without witnessing some evidence of an extra curricular activity; be it a varsity jacket, a poster, a sign-up sheet, an announcement, or a girl dressed in crazy clothes for an initiation. All these and more are results of student involvement in various activities on campus.

School wouldn't be school without pep rallies, drill team practices, play productions, radio stations, and sports. So many students put in their own extra time by choice. (And they don't even get paid!) These are the days of wide and valued interests. Those that have the initiative go out and use it. Some may be successful at what they do, and others may not. No matter what the outcome of these activities, the experience and the fun is usually worth the trouble.

What's the reason for all the extra time that could be spent doing some other wild and woolly hobbie? Reasons vary from "I like to" to "I can't stand being at home." Those that do get involved sometimes wish to heaven that they could be as carefree as that person over there, who starts first period and goes home after sixth period, with not a care on his mind. (Besides what he's going to have for lunch.)

The reasons for spending extra time go much deeper than just "because." Students are human, and humans have what's known as an ego. Now, this little sweetie is a real problem sometimes. It's usually very hungry. There are various ways to feed various egos, all carried out in various activities. It may be standing in front of a football crowd; writing a controversial story in the newspaper, making yourself known. (Be it popular or unpopular.); being a looked-up to club president; or being a humble member of a committee. All are devices for feeding the very hungry human ego.

Don't get me wrong. There is absolutely nothing wrong with feeding one's ego. It's just one of those human processes that sort of happen, no matter how hard you may try to prevent it. Lonely and withdrawn nobody's will sneer at the people that glow and make themselves known, saying that they're "soshes". Jealous. That's the only way to describe the nobody's, that wish so hard that they were somebodies, but don't have the will, know-how, or confidence to do it. For these sad people, I can only give a pitied glance, and a personal thanks that I'm not like that.

All things are good, in moderation. When an ego gets out of hand, it becomes a glutton. The person may become known as egotistical. (Snobby, in layman's terms.) A swelled head is not an asset, by any means. As they say, there's not room for two when one has his nose up high enough to freeze. The air becomes very thick. And people become very lonely.

Let's return to extra curricular activities, though, and let all egotistical snobs remain as they are. Extra activities can end up taking up alot of time. (Up to three fourths of your time.) Three fourths of one's day is a great amount. Soon it seems as if activities become the main thing in your life. (As opposed to studying, but who likes to study?) A happy ego, is a healthy ego. Lord knows, it takes alot of time to achieve that. So what's three fourths of one's time spent gaining self confidence and sureness of one's self? Not too much, and for some, it's certainly not enough.

A) "Peace!" say the members of the cross country team. B) Gordon Marsh and Stephanie Keenan perform in the Fall Play, "The Bald Soprano". C) "It's natural talent" says Tom Villa, pertaining to his ping pong. D) Ms. Bachelor, head of the People Center, turns in time to get a picture.

THE PEOPLE CENTER

Made for people

No, this school doesn't have a cafeteria with hot lunches. Instead, WHS has a cafeteria with ping pong tables, and alot of other recreational programs. If you didn't already know, this reformed cafeteria is called the People Center. Yes, this title means just what it says. The People Center is made for people. (WHS students in particular.)

Why in heavens' name would a school give up delicious (?) hot lunches for ping pong tables? That is yet to be known; nevertheless, the People Center does have a very definite purpose. It started out to be a place for students to go just to have a good time, (or stay out of the rain), and eventually evolved to a place for meaningful involvement to meet individual needs.

There are several advantageous programs that might be right for you in the People Center. Some of these are: recreational games, (ping pong), individual study, Peer Counseling, Crisis Counseling, Cross/Age Tutoring, Peer Tutoring, Health Service Referral, Consumer Education through guest speakers, and films.

You don't have to be a victim of some terrible trauma to join these programs. All you have to do is walk in. You can give and take knowledge and counseling. The People Center is made for you. If you want to have a good time, or give a little of your own time, then the People Center is for you.

(It has come to the attention of this author that the People Center has been removed because of the new schedule and the need for a study hall. With that in mind, take this story as a memoir of the People Center that once was.)

LIFE

Waiting

Each day, we have our separate little situations and things to look forward to. "I can't wait until tomorrow" is a commonly referred to statement; "Wait till you see!" with a sparkle in the eye; "Seems like I've been waiting forever", said with a sigh; "Just wait a minute, will ya?" said in exasperation; so I'm waiting, but for what?

This is actually a very philosophical question, rendering much thought and examination. Let's leave examinations to professors. How about a straight forward answer, without all of the two page introductions to a one sentence answer? You got it.

To die.

Very simple, straight forward, and to the point. We are born to die. Without being born, we would not be able to die, and would therefore, have no purpose. Ofcourse, there is a vast amount of mass between birth and death, commonly referred to as "The Rat Race." (This may seem like a very pessimistic attitude, but even the rat can get the cheese.)

Dying is a finished product of x amount of years spent living. And waiting. First, one waits to talk, then walk; school; party; graduation; college; marriage; children; retirement; grand-children; peace; then death. It seems as though all of one's time is spent in waiting for one thing or another. If you think about it, this seems like a very large waste. That is not wholly true; things are accomplished simultaneously with waiting. "I managed to clean my room, do my homework, have an argument with my mom, and set the table, just waiting for you to call."

Waiting to die. It does sound rather harsh. (The truth always hurts.) Each individual goes for his own separate goals, making this one (?) lifetime as useful and lively as possible. It's amazing all of the accomplishments that are made in our average seventy-two year wait; all of the little steps taken, in preparation for the big step that comes after life. (Or the standing still, depending on your philosophy.)

Student Life is a step in the right direction. It is a way of life that most Americans are lucky enough to have. Even though you may get tired of the whole school routine, it can make one very grateful if you realize that it could be worse. In other words, take advantage of the good times. Young years won't last forever. (Even Jack Lalanne's.) Never again will you have as wide a choice as to what to do with your life as now. Take advantage. One day all of the waiting will come to an end. And Life will never have more true meaning, as when all the waiting is over and Life is no more.

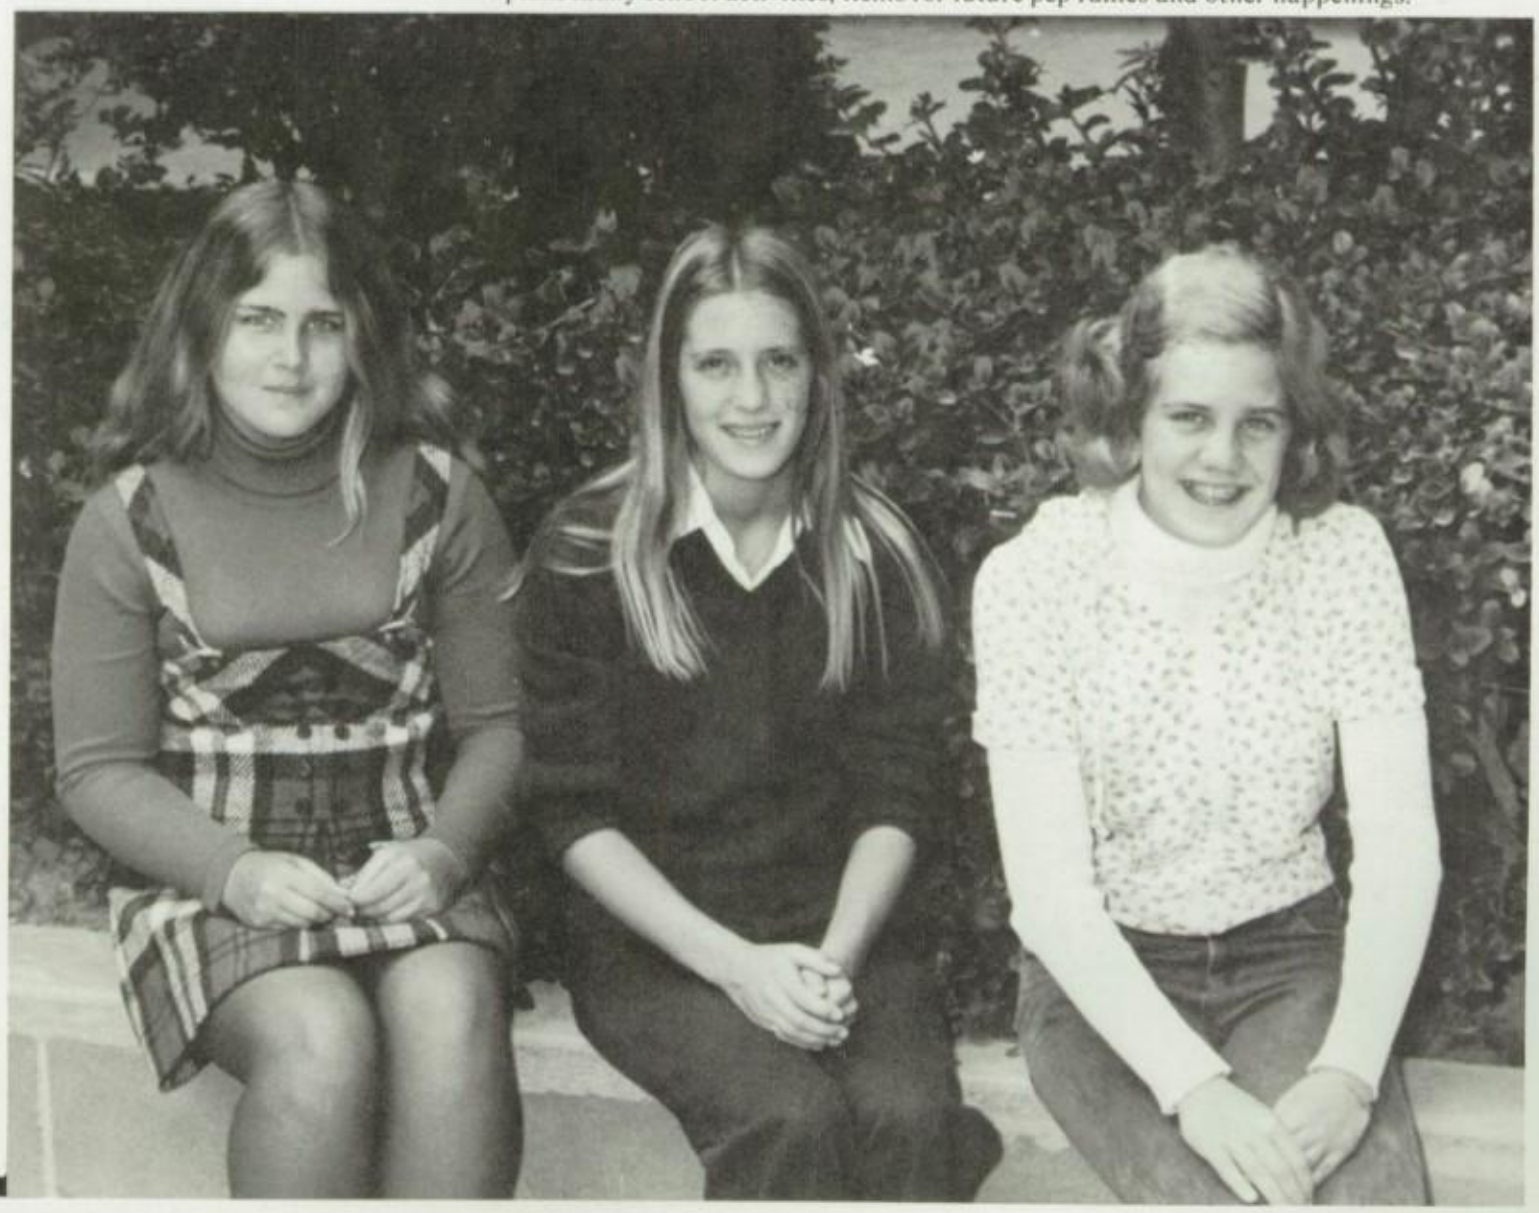
1) Mike Whittenberg is 'Lion Spirit'. 2) Alias Lotus Byrnes demonstrates skill. 3) Jim Sanders and friend talk very quietly as girls in the backround look on. 4) Julie Zepeda looks for the alphabet keys. 5) Julie Loving and Frances Tavernese look surprised. 6) Real awake guy says "ZZZZZZzzzz" 7) Mike Gaouette warms hands in his pockets. 8) Drill teamers are full of smiles. 9) Students on campus decide to become ecological. 10) The 'Uncola' wall in schools people center.

Freshmen "bug" roars down Goldenwest at the Pep Parade. Their float wasn't "lion" around.

Freshmen Class President, Scott Brock, works hard to achieve his goals. Along with his assistants he plans many school activities, items for future pep rallies and other happenings.



FRESHMEN CLASS OFFICERS: Laurie O'hara, Vice-President; Donna Harris, Treasurer; and Jackie DeComa, Representative assist the president. Even though they are newcomers, they are enthusiastic and will lead the class well. (NOT SHOWN: Karen Neilson, Secretary)

Kolanoski Completes Second Year (As Principal)

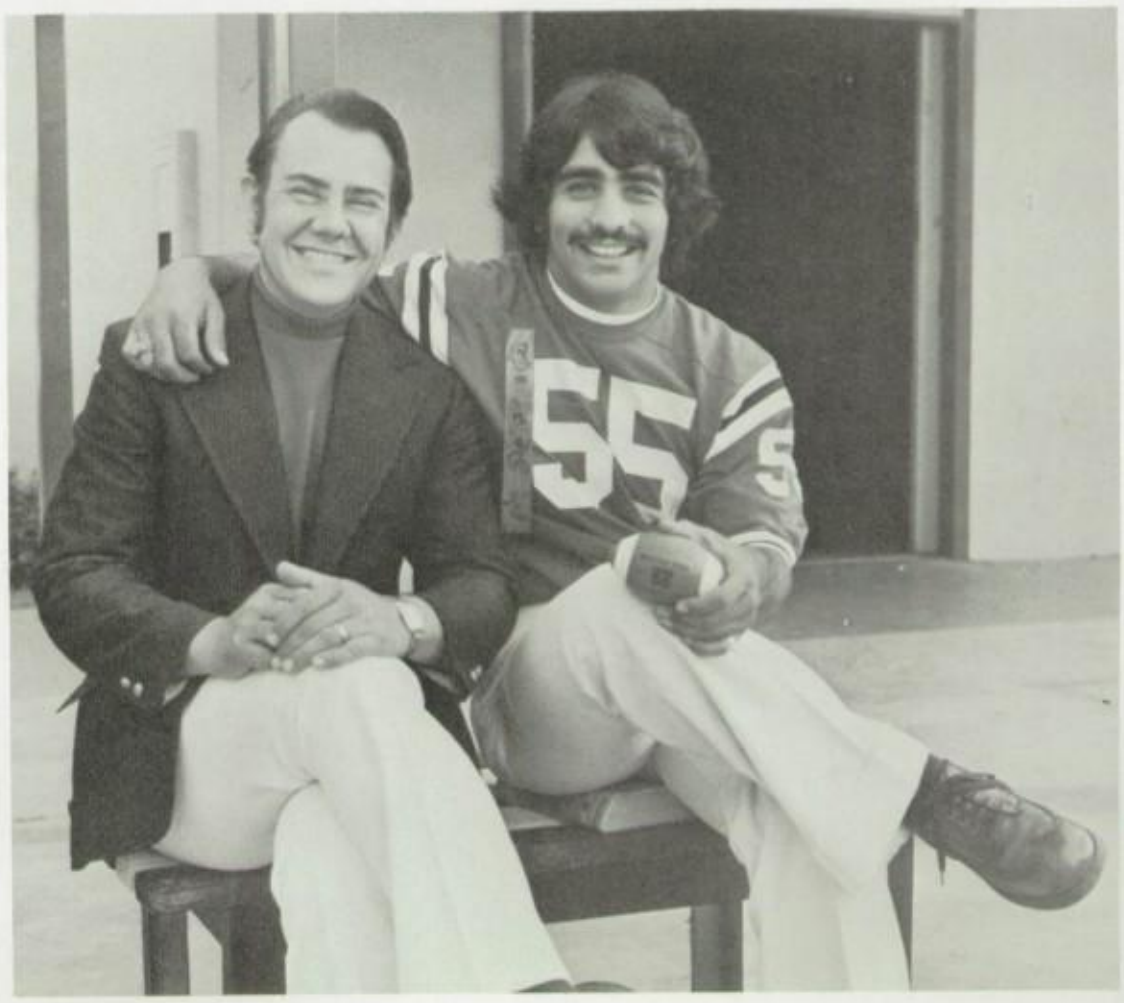
Thomas E. Kolanoski is successfully carrying out his second year as Westminster High School's principal. Principal Kolanoski's main responsibilities involve the job of chief administrator and educational leader of Westminster High School. This includes co-curricular activities, curriculum from the Mentally Gifted Minor Program to the special education classes, athletics and many jobs that fall between.

Principal Kolanoski says running Westminster High School is very similar to the responsibilities of the manager of a big corporation requiring skills in budget processes, personnel work and public relations. He feels the hardest part of the job for him is his need to rely on others to do the job and regrets not having enough time to roll up his sleeves and do it himself, nor enough time to be as involved in the student body activities as he would like to be.

Before becoming principal of Westminster High School, Mr. Kolanoski held the position of assistant principal at Fountain Valley High School, Westminster High School and Marina High School in Huntington Beach. Previous occupations included teaching social science, English, drama and reading, and counseling for four years. Principal Kolanoski prefers high school students because they are interesting, have active social lives and are trying to find their goals for the future.

Favorite pastimes of Principal Kolanoski's are camping, fishing, traveling, swimming, playing bridge, bicycling, and working with his hands. "Our school is second to none in the United States in what it can offer both in and out of the classrooms," says Principal Kolanoski about Westminster High School. "Westminster High School provides our students with career skills and the educational background they seek for future goals. I'm proud to be the principal of such a great school."

Using a district map, Principal Kolanoski points out the various high school locations as he explains the situation of overcrowded classrooms and the need for another district high school.



Displaying the true companionship feeling students and administration share on campus, Principal Kolanoski takes time to join Ron De Caprio in a friendly sit down.

Counselors Always Available to Aid Students

The ever busy counseling staff of Westminster High School excellently carried out another hectic year of filling out program change forms, shaping academic careers and offering friendly counsel to students as well as completing numerous jobs which required specific attention.

This 1974-75 school year, the counseling staff bid farewell to Mr. Jim Bears who went to Santa Ana College, welcoming Industrial Arts Department Chairman Mr. Ken Payzant in his place. Another new addition to the staff was Ms. Bertha Tostado, coming to us from El Rancho High School of Pico Rivera. She took over Mr. Seminiuk's position as he moved to the Title 1 Program. Both excelled greatly in their positions as they were accepted with open arms by both faculty and student body.

Newcomer to this years counseling staff, Ms. Bertha Tostado uses a method all her own to aquire students interested in "cheap" counseling. First in line is Mike Bloom.

Special Services Make Students' Life Easier

All students are aware of the facilities available on campus: their location, the hours you may visit them and their purposes.

Located across from the Globe West Theatre is the library. This is the main resource center of the school and everyone is urged to make the most of the facilities provided. These include the large selection of books, magazines and several other materials of interest to both faculty and student body.

An off branch of the library, the Media Services Center, is located in D-1 and D-2. Growing larger in both facilities and popularity in the past year and a half, the center performs several different jobs. Among these is the production of cassette tapes, slide shows, super 8 movies for educational purposes, video tapes and posters of different activities on campus.

The supervisor of this operation is Mrs. Jean Cavanaugh, while Mr. Adrian Lugo as coordinator keeps everything in running order.

The main purpose of the Media Services Center is to bring media into the classrooms for educational purposes and help make students aware of what is happening around them both on and off campus.

Adjacent to the H and J buildings is the psychologists trailer. The psychologists perform different tests with the students and are also available during school hours for any students who seek help with a personal problem.

Available just inside the administration building is the school nurse. She is there to counsel students with health related problems and aid in any emergencies that might arise during school hours.

All services are rendered cheerfully and with competence.

Mr. Goddard Receives Fond Farewell

On January 22, 1975, Mr. Ed Goddard was honored at the Los Alamitos Officer's Club with a banquet sponsored by Westminister High School. The banquet honored the retirement of Mr. Goddard after serving Westminster High School for thirteen years. Over two hundred fifty people were in attendance at the banquet.

Participating in the ceremonies were speakers Bill Boswell-Athletic Director; Jack Hedges-Head Cross Country Coach; and Frank Munoz-Head Baseball Coach, all from Westminster High School. Present as well as speakers from Westminster High were longtime friends and associates of Mr. Goddard's. Mr. Goddard was honored with many fine gifts, some of which were Fenwick fishing equipment, golf balls and a jacket.

Mr. Goddard graduated from Escondido High School and went on to attend Washington State University, where he was an All American Athlete in both baseball and football. Upon graduation, Mr. Goddard went into both professional sports. After his professional career, he went into teaching P.E. at Fullerton Junior College, where he soon became Head Football Coach. In 1950, he switched over to Huntington Beach High School taking over the Head Football Coaching position. Then in 1959, Mr. Goddard came to Westminster High School and became Athletic Director until 1972. During that time Westminster High School received several athletic championship awards.

The banquet was a great success as those attending re-lived Mr. Ed Goddard's past and his honors, showing that he is respected by many people and especially remembered by those students fortunate enough to have had the pleasure of working with him.

Attending the banquet were Mr. and Mrs. Foote, Mr. Jim O'Hara, and Mr. Jack Hedges, as well as several other guests and friends of Mr. Goddard's.

To make the evening a total success, there were many delicious looking dishes avai able as Mr. Goddard and guests find it difficult to choose a favorite.

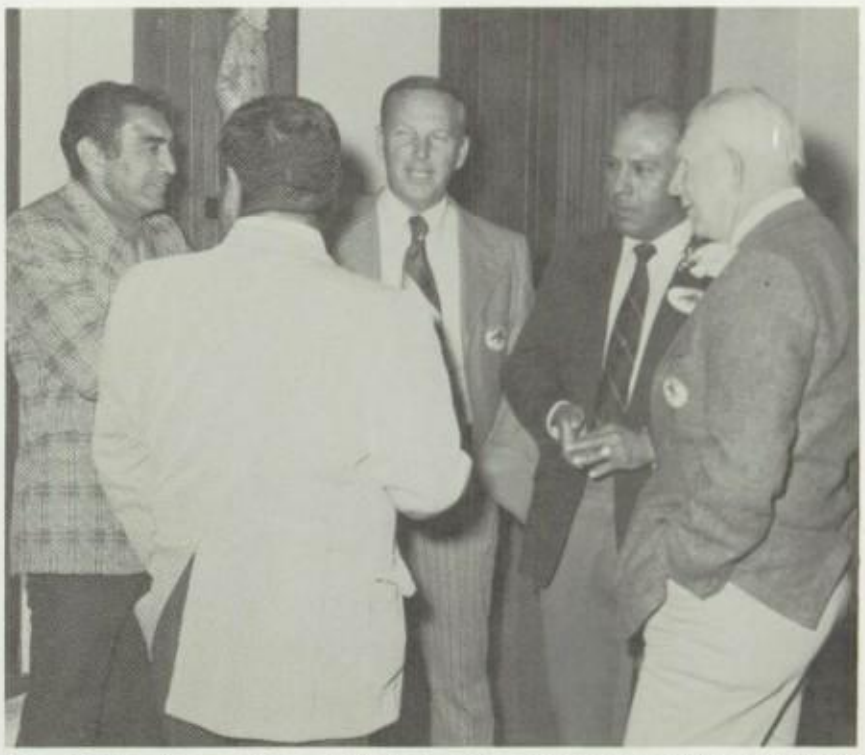
Mr. Clyde Friecholz speaks respectively about Mr. Goddard.

Mr. Frank Munoz, of WHS, speaks on the many accomplishments of Mr. Goddard.

Attending the banquet was Mr. Ed Johnson of Cerritos JC.

Mr. Jack Hedges, Head CC Coa of WHS, was among the w wishers.

Mr. Clare Harbick offers his best wishes for the future to Mr. Goddard and compliments him on his excellence in the past.



Mr. Goddard takes time out to have a leisurely conversation with a few former athletes he coached at Fullerton JC.

Mr. Goddard and his wife Ellen take to the floor for some toe tapping and are joined by Mr. Meyers and Mrs. Biere.

Mr. Randy Patton, from Huntington Beach High School, presents Mr. Goddard with one of the many fine gifts he received.

Mr. Pare remembers some of his past experiences with Mr. Goddard.

Mr. Bill Boswell offers his best wishes for Mr. Goddard.

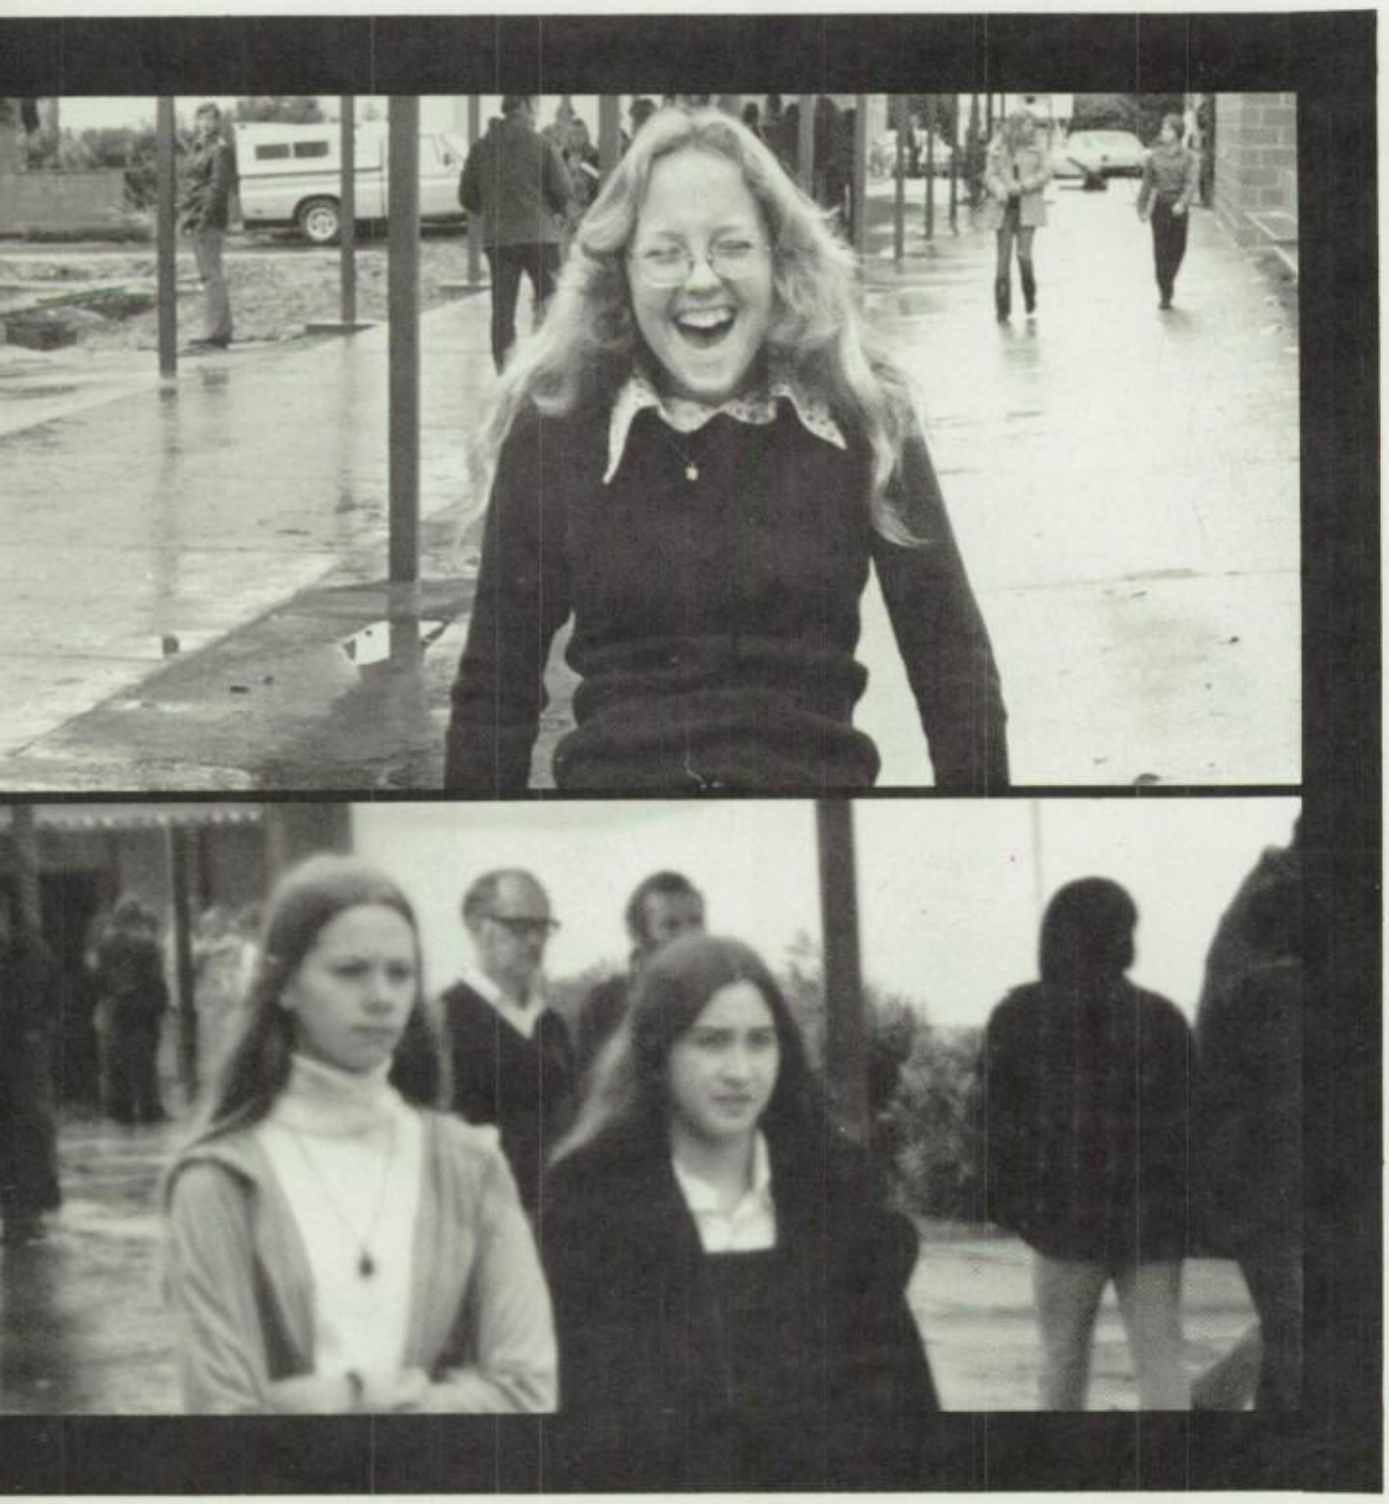
VISIONS

INTO LIFE



Thoughts

My future, past and present
Just passed through my soul's awareness
Though I strive to hold on to these visions
They melt away within my clutches
My eyes brim with the tears I try so desperately to hide
Yet all my emotions come abounding out in sobs of sorrow and grief.
My mellowness shall soon return
And I shall again persist to face the fact I have yet to find true happiness
Only in my dreams of reality do I perceive peaceful content

I look at my friends;
they turn to smile
I look into the weary eyes;
they find new energy
I see the bewildered;
they find new awareness
I see the hungry;
they find the food of life
My heart seeks a love;
but it stands in the wake of time.

Jane,
Dan so glad
I met you this year.
You are so sweet, nice cute. It's a miracle we made it through the first year of high school. Just think got three more. Anyway have a great summer and
I hope to see you next year
See you and Todd soon
Love always
Marla

As a child of the past, an adult of the future, I can only hope we may glance behind us to see what glorious future our life will come upon.

And though I may weep at my misfortunes and cheer at my accomplishments, I will have the pleasure of knowing I have met my goal and lived life to its fullest.

For every yearbook there are special people who help and give of themselves to make it a memorable year; remembered and treasured thoughts of Frank Senelli and Henry DeRusha for their professional services in time of crisis; photographers like Zip Foto from Albert and James and from this school Frank Newman, Dave Harris, Dean Zatkowsky, and Sal Dellutri for their considerate help. Special thanks should also go to Mr. John Thomas of American Yearbook Company who saw us through our seventeenth year with his company.

This yearbook, of course could not have come to be without the Citadel Staff itself. The hours spent and meals forgotten were innumerable. Without people like Carrie Petrucci, "Where are your pages?" and Mr. Ken McCluskey, "Do you want a July yearbook?!!", memories like these could not be treasured so well.

Tearfully Yours,

Debbi Harris

Tammy—
To a really sweet girl and a real nut. I don't know what kind of a nut. Maybe you'll succeed in life better with your antlers; they suit you! Good luck. I'll be seeing you.
Love ya.
Karen Grodt

Tammy,
Have a beat Summer. Get a beautiful tan, good-luck in school, & do whatever you do best. Maybe I'll be seeing you in Chicago "78"

Tammy
You are one of the most hard working people in the whole school. Thank you for all the help you gave me and the other cast members when you worked on the show. You're great.

Love
Bob Mueller™

Friends always,
Love,
Kim

Tammie
You are one of the nicest people that I know and a great friend. Have fun always and the best of luck in the next year.
Always,
Heather Kay
(great skiing over there)

Hi Tammy,
It's been nice knowing you these past 2 or 3 years. I'll be sure to see you this summer. I'll come visit you sometime. Good luck in the future.
Your friend
Always
Kim Dixon

To the guy with the classy cards:
Where did you have your hair done? I love it!
Keep up the piano playing. Some day you might be worthy enough to touch Gordon Marsh's hands!
May your beard grow ever longer.
